The simplicity, symbolism and colouration present on the flag strongly reminds me of the League of Nations and the United Nations, so I'd think it not a unified entity but an international organisation organised in very similar fashions to the aforementioned organisations.

They are foreign mercenaries that still carry on the old aesthetics of a demographically collapsed state after its pyrrhic victory over a delusional ex-KGB officer and his crumbling grail of empire.

A joint council of Republican-Democrats and their private security forces hidden deep within the rockies planning their next move or either that be liquidated by the armies surrounding them.

A provisional government under the careful auspices of six military generals and whatever loyal and competent forces they have at their disposal to quell a socialist uprising deep within the countryside.
