A very fun interaction between appendages and car batteries. And some scalding with boiling oil. And some acid splashes. And some mutilations. And some cigarette burns. And some peeled bits of skin. Basically, a whole lot of torture to get them to talk since we do kinda need all the intel on any further connections and people involved in the attempted coup. THEN, when alls clear, we get to the public mass executions

Tho sometimes it can get really messy, like the 2004 purge where 26,000 party members were executed in the months following a major coup attempt. Yeah, maybe it's not a good idea to try and fail in ousting the Premier

Kidnapping a family member of YL and taking a bunch of selfies with them while dressed as a clown?

Probably severe time dilation prison time and/or simulated execution in cyberspace plus reparations. If they are really patriotic, then that's all they get, otherwise real life execution as well. Unless the massacre in question harms only robots, then reparations only, plus potential time for reckless endangerment in time dilation place.

If done as part of a ~~torture~~ enhanced interrogation on a treasonous official, then no punishment, if it is sanctioned by the Supreme Leader or their representatives (I don't care what the WA says), if done otherwise then a brutal time dilation sentence plus reparations, and simulated execution in cyberspace, if done with intent to kill then the previous punishment, plus likely execution in real life.

If temporary with no lasting damage and done as a prank, then no punishment. If harm is done, reparations plus time dilation prison in cyberspace for reckless endangerment and/or child endangerment and harm. If its permanent damage then extra time dilation sentence for aggravated assault.

Extreme time dilation prison in cyberspace, and potential simulated execution. If the works was really import and/or classified, than possible real life execution as well. Also reparations would have to be paid obviously.
