Depends. Generally speaking, gentlemen (and ladies and otherfellows, that's the Lakan word for non-binaries) very often duel each other, sometimes using deadly weapons, but the government prefers to stay out of this, sometimes temporarily forbidding one from dueling with deadlies when said person is valuable enough. If done in other circumstances then it's an attempted murder, punishable by facing the wall.

25 years in prison for eating the remains of a human who already died.

If the person who was eaten was killed by the cannibal, execution since it qualifies as murder.

She doesn't even know what Sentinelese means, let alone understand it. If someone around was able to speak it, such offenses will usually resolve in a light fine, however, the problems start to arise considering the recklessness of Alexandria. She CAN and WILL try to challenge whoever offends her to duels, but the weapons are usually left to the choice of the challenged one.

Challenging YL to a duel using epees? Like actual epees, fighting to death!

Public nudity isn't a crime, so long as other lewd and lascivious acts are refrained from.

Corruption e.g. accepting bribes or using public positions of power to advance you own material goals.

The maximum penalty depends on the type of corruption that the person has been convicted for:

- Financial fraud via government means: 8 years' imprisonment
- Electoral fraud: 10 years' imprisonment (a maximum fine of A$500,000 may also be levied), and a non-negotiable permanent prohibition from political activity
- Misleading voters in an election: 5 years' imprisonment
- Committing a conflict of interest crime: a fine of A$10,000

Depends on the State or Canton entered. In some it is not a crime, and in others it can warrant the death penalty.

Examples:

In Arroyo State, it is a very quick trial and execution (usually within 90 days).

In Osagia State it is a very lengthy trial (up to three years) the punishment of which would vary from a slap on the wrist (no punishment except pay court costs) to time served plus 5 years hard labor. In extreme cases (repeat offender who has somehow created a public health hazard each time), declared an outlaw, and exiled from Osagia on pain of death.

In Heatherbrook Canton it is not a crime if it is all for personal use (and use by other consenting adults so long as it is not sold in jurisdictions which prohibit the sale of said substance) and the bulk of the substance remains in Heatherbrook.

Eh most likely a severe fine and a forced visit to state psychiatric institution, repeated offense warrants more severe punishments up to being extradited to US or Canada (they usually accept such prisoners, because they are considered to be political prisoners there and it's cheaper then killing them).
