As Pink Floyd songs go (from the relatively little I've heard) I have to give it to "Money"...if only for what I can only make out as a 7/4 time signature...oh and it being a good song too, yeah that's important

It's so overplayed. Pretty much everything except Any Colour You Like is better on Dark Side.

Help!, The Beatles.

Well, I did say "THE RELATIVELY LITTLE I'VE HEARD" from them...so you can't say I'm wrong to have the opinion I do, unless you were to make the argument that I should say anything about a band until I really get to know them and their music, which is a fair point that I don't plan on making too large of a note of (who has the time to get to know that many bands that well so that anytime a random band comes up in conversation, you can speak without a bias...but wait, you CAN'T not have a bias...)

So...basically I'm entitled to my opinion.

Uhhh, no, I was implying that my opinion, as a person who has listened to a fair bit of Pink Floyd, is that there are other songs far more deserving of the radio play 'Money' receives.

But yes you seem to be into a lot of dad rock so you should listen to more PF anyway.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

That's fair, I've really only heard Pink Floyd on the radio anyway...so yeah. Just the way radio works..."only the hits"

Muse-Bliss.

People who complain about the 'new' 'electronic aspects' of Muse make me laugh. Then they talk about how old Muse is better because of it....Uh, this song has electronic aspects. Muse always has....
