Oh god. I feel so sorry for you. Why would anyone in their right mind force you to listen to that horror?

I reserve the right to enjoy whatever I like, and allow you the same privilege. I won't deny that, as far as the rules go for legitimate art, it's schlock. But it's a part of my youth, and I prefer it to a great deal of much more "respectable" music. De gustibus non est disputandum.

Wait, you want to listen to it? ☐ Well, alright then. If you say so...

I say so. And when my mp3 player's random playback lands on Bolero, I'll like that too. Ditto for Journey. Sousa. Pachelbel. Booker T and the MGs. Ray Stevens. AC-DC. Johnny Cash. Dred Zeppelin. Weird Al. Aerosmith. Boston. Alphaville. 4 Non Blondes. Ween. Dire Straits. Gershwin. Glen Miller. Vanilla Ice. Bowie. Queen. Chuck Berry. The Coasters. Abbot and Costello. Jesus Jones. INXS. Klaus Lage. Wir Sind Helden. Silbermond. Nena. Peter Schilling. Alan Parsons. Tom Petty. The Everly Brothers. Et cetera. I will not apologize for liking what I like.

Hmm...Gotta go get me some Rogers and Hammerstein.

By the way:
I Won't Back Down
Tom Petty.

I know, they never play it. It was a one hit wonder for sure, but I always loved it.

I'm listening to the horrible squeaky sound that the iMac my sister gave me as a christmas present makes all the time. I can stop the sound at any time, by pushing the power button on my antique Marantz amp which I bought for $25 in a pawnshop (its FM tuner didn't work, and still doesn't), which feeds the two small but excellent Akai speakers which a friend insisted I take in exchange for the few weeks accomodation I provided her with, in a house which I was minding (ie, getting use of for free) from my dad. Ironically, that friend told me that the speakers (and a hi-fi which died) were presents from her own dad, who she hated at the time.

Sadly, I can't remember her name. If she is out there somewhere, I'd like her to know that I still have the speakers and I use them every day. Just now I'm using them to hear the horrible whining sound my iMac makes.

What is the moral of this story? "Friends are good for a day and night, but AV hardware is forever".

MySpace has about 10 songs on it. The only one I did care for was Wreck of the Edmund Fitzgerald

Is it a cover of the Gordon Lightfoot number, perchance?
