This ends up being a vicious cycle though. The low effort posters (which aren't all homyposters) don't get exposed to higher quality RP and have no desire to improve because everyone they can interact with is also a low effort poster. Also leaves people who can't be bothered to go through the song and dance of joining an NS RP group out (or aren't even really sure how to find these groups), when there are some of us out there who are not low effort homyposters and/or number spammers.

Again, not all homyposters are low effort... some are otherwise quite good RPer who get creepily weird when describing characters

Who are you to tell us what we may and may not do? We stopped being your slaves an era ago. "

South Reinkalistan is a massive, ecologically-diverse nation notable for its roving student militias and widespread hatred for the elderly. In the midst of a room-temperature cultural revolution that's lost its momentum, the Party carefully plans its next move. As the brittle bones of fragile empires begin to crack beneath their own weight, history's symphony reaches crescendo pitch. The future is all but certain.

PMT/Early FT - Decopunk. Zitravgrad is a crowned republic in a planet somewhere else in the universe. The formerly wartorn nation keeps a facade of normalcy and order while enjoying the societal and cultural decadence that marks the new Roaring Twenties. The paranoid authoritarian government tries its best to uphold order in the face of uncertainty, while its people want nothing more than a breathing space. MS PowerPoint, the true chad of graphics design.

Seriously, give it a try. You have no idea how crazily creative you can be with overlapping shapes, or the text warping effects.

I never got a hate for the ripple effect actually. I only used it once though.

I tried it once on my original green-and-pink. Actually works, but... nah, I like it plain as it is. ♥

The ripple flag mostly works only when your flag has horizontal symmetry on the middle.

I don't know when exactly you're living but I have never seen anyone enjoy the ripple effect ever. The ripple effect is actually painful to look at and is annoying when scrolling through lists of nations only to see one flag that looks like it has some kind of skin disease.

New nation idea, strong Turkey that has friendly relations with Greece to trigger the Byzantineboos.

How about a Greece-Turkey dual monarchy for a real powermove against the Byzantineboos.

Meh, nothing will come of this I'm too lazy to even worldbuild one nation. Let alone a second one.

Which leads me to another cliché. People who have multiple puppets with extensive worldbuilding. How do people have time for this? It actually impresses me because I've been on this nation since 2016 and my factbooks are pretty lame and always have been. But I think that's because I've realized my alternate history Afghanistan that fought off the British and the Russians and became big regional power is wholly unrealistic.

- 1) Obsessive tendencies. In my case.
- 2A) I was a uni student when I wrote the bulk of my lore, so I spent a lot of time writing a lot of assignments on Word as well.
- 2B) I applied a lot of history lessons and watered them down for my lore, rehashing and translating bits of actual work.
- 3) Unemployed and trying to finish thesis on quarantine. pls no bulli, already screwed myself enough.
