Of course, if they were all unpleasant endings, that would get old, as well. There are happy endings that are done well. But in a movie about the damned apocalypse, I don't want some dumb happy ending.

Like the 2012 movie (that whole movie was dumb though).

And the songs not really my thing, but I think my favorite part was actually the screaming type of vocals.

I didn't like their new album :/

They should have made it a little more similar to their second one.

Your nation is like a son. What it does right is your merit, as well as what it does wrong is your fault. When you praise it, be lucid and avoid exaggeration. Praising it too much can make it indolent. On the other hand, when you criticize it, be harsh, but do not ridicule it. Do your best to improve it, not through derision or disdain, but through good examples and dedication.

I wasn't impressed by that song. ☐
Now my rock mood ended and switched to darkstep.

Unsane - Disdain

CVT Temp wrote:

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
