Monkey -1 meta reported something in the mod channel.
(Ninjad, but since we should probably follow the progression of numbers, each doing 1 and going negative seems to be the best as to go about it, and until, there is consensus, I'll just do that I guess, and see if others do also)

I mean, if we keep counting down, thats the logical conclusion, isnt it ?

Monkey -3
Monkey -4 ect

Or maybe anti monkey 4
Anti monkey 5.

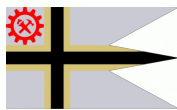

If it's leaving vs going down, at least some people will go down, and thus, it will continue to survive.

(For simplicity's sake, may I recommend we are currently on monkey -2 ?)

Well, at the time of posting, there are 6856 posts, (this one being 6857) and if each is suppose to be for one monkey, then with that math, we still have 3,144 monkeys left...

(This of course does not account for /skipme and more complex things, but a rough estimate like this seems to be the best best, unless you want to count everything, for making sure we didnt skip large amounts of monies)

Well not really since there have been cases where several Monkeys where killed at the same time and also some where just simply skipped for some reason

So then here is a question, should we try to somehow count all the monkeys that really died, or just go with the flow?
And is it one monkey per person ?

Also, there's a good chance there were a load of other posts like these last couple that were used for discussion rather than monkey genocide antics, so there could be a lot of improperly slaughtered monkeys.

I'm fully sure every monkey has already died in some way, as people have killed multiple monkeys in one post.

We could do negatives until we get 10,000 posts... or just leave this thread alone forever. Or start again. Dunno.

My vote is to start over with a new thread.

No, twenty thousand monkey genocide would reach 500 pages, maybe fifteen thousand monkey genocide?

Monkey 4997 was confused yet grateful as to how he was alive. He went home and enjoyed time with his family, no longer taking anything for granted. He lived a nice life for exactly 12 minutes before the moon of his planet collided with his planet, taking his life and his planet's with him.

Monkey 4995 suddenly becomes the elected ruler of the Monkey Republic. He now has to deal with the now recontinued war against the Dark Monkeys and the New Doge Empire.

Monkey 4995 leads his troops into galactical battles. However, his rule as President of the Monkey Republic was short-lived as he accidentally stabbed himself trying to teach new recruits to throw knives.

Monkey 4994 was a Religious Leader in the Monkey Republic and believed monkey 4995 died for the Monkesus and was a prophet of Bananism. Monkey 4994 then committed religious suicide to join his glorious Monkesus.

Monkey 4992 jumped off a cliff blindfolded, but before jumping off monkey 10000 from a different timeline broke the spacetime continuum and crashed with monkey 4992 at the speed of light through a dimension hopping warp due to the sheer instability that the alt monkey 10000 created, causing both him and alternate timeline monkey 10000 to perish horribly.
