Monkey 5341 was not a part of that giant hare-brained scheme and so lived to die peacefully at age 102.

Monkey 5340 did not believe in one-two-skip-a-fewing forum games, and so was promptly euthanised painlessly.

Monkey 5339 went back in time to prevent the horrible fate of monkeys 5342 to 4843. In the end, he saved the continuity of the Ten Thousand Monkey Genocide. Unfortunately, though, he could not save Monkeys 5342 through 5340, and he had to sacrifice himself to get the stage directions to the rest of the performers.

Monkey 5335 was jealous of the woman that King Kong held in his fist so he grabbed hold of the woman and threw her onto the ground. Then it leaped into King Kong's hand, made a seductive pose and gave a big, fat, wet kiss on King Kong's lips which made Kong furious so The Giant Ape tightened his fist, crushed the little blighter and threw him down The Empire State Building.

Monkey 5330 listened to R.Kelly's "I believe I can fly". This gave him a wide, toothy grin and he bypassed all the airport security and managed to hold onto the outside of an aeroplane. Eventually the clever sod lost his grip and fell straight down into a large body of water where the last thing his body met was two long snappy, reptilian jaws...

Monkey 5329 copied Monkey 5330. While his own plummet into water did not end in reptile jaws, it did end in an object lesson in surface tension at high speeds. Specifically, the fact that, at 500kn forward and about 107kn downward, there's little difference between hitting water and hitting concrete.

Monkey 5326 was playing hide-and-seek near a launchsite. However, interestingly enough, they did not die a heat related death. Instead they drowned when the sound suppression system was turned on.

Monkey 5325 was executed via firing squad. They were innocent.

People tend to assume that Entrance of the Gladiators by Julius Fučík is what that ever so famous circus clown theme is. And in a way, it is. Nobody would ever argue with you on this fact.

However, if you want to be an unlikable, pedantic jerk, the song actually known to be circus music would be a version composed for American woodwind bands (and later transcribed for fairground organs) titled Thunder and Blazes, published by Louis-Philippe Laurendeau.

Of course, this information is of absolutely no consequence to anyone.

Monkey 5322 tried to divide himself by 0.

"The Barons of England demanded the Security of Law for Themselves, the Patriots of America proclaimed the Security and Protection for All. All men are equal before the Law. No matter upon what spot of the Earth's surface they were born; no matter whether an Asiatic or African, a European or an American Sun first burned upon them; no matter whether citizens or strangers, no matter whether rich or poor, no matter whether wise or simple, no matter whether strong or weak, this new Magna Carta to Mankind declares the rights of All to Life and Liberty and Property are Equal Before the Law."
