Colossal modern island nation in the North Atlantic. Ruled by a compassionate yet slightly-unhinged king, with a very isolationist yet empathetic populace. Notable characteristics: terrifyingly mighty air force and navy, world famous cars, legendary blend of wildlife.

Flag created by the legendary Almonaster Nuevo.

NS stats are canon except for population; factbook started. Some things are my RL views, some things are not. If curious, feel free to telegram.

Hunting activities are coordinated by the Elders' Council of each native village, insubordination results in the societal exclusion of the person.

If a non-native person hunts without the consent of the Elders' Council of the closest village may be punished in various forms. In Hurepulo the person is expelled from the country, in Niapinga the person is drowned, while in some villages consent is necessary by one or two elders only in others no consent from elders is necessary if the activity is indeed not harmful to the wellbeing of the community.

A fine to both the local city and to the farmer whose crops were burned. Depending on the city, sometimes there'll also be a penalty of a couple days in prison.

If the theft is of sentimental value to the victim, the victim can claim a sentimental item from the thief. The thief is then exiled from the island or municipality until the victim says it is enough. The thief pays for the cost of the process.

If the theft is not of sentimental value, and the item is returned, the victim can have the thief caned with up to 5 strikes by a stongman (or less if the victim says it is enough). The thief pays the cost of the process.

If the item is unreturnable, the thief must pay double to the victim, plus the cost of prosses to the State. The thief is caned up to 10 strikes (or less if the victim says it is enough.)
