I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

I refuse to mention Jay Z being in the song because his part sucks.

Oh god I just started a 26-song album. Might get the 5-song album (with 3 really long songs) out of the way before finishing this.

Why The Wall?!?!?

There are albums with a ridiculous amount of songs that are still less than a half hour. Mostly grindcore, though.

I caught you. I'll need to find a ^{good} song to make you listen to as your punishment..but which genre... You can try this melodic death/black song I'm listening to.

Well if you've listened to the other ones go for it. I think their other albums are better representative of their sound simply because the songs are longer but the albums are shorter. The Wall isn't that long (I'm pretty sure LYSFLaH is longer by a few minutes or something) but I like the way the other PF records deal with length.

Where should I go after Animals, The Dark Side of the Moon, Wish You Were Here, and The Wall? So far I've done The Dark Side of the Moon and Wish You Were Here today.

It's the only record where I ever have a problem with its length.
