Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...

Regarding the King of Terra and Lord Emperor of the

The ends justify the means... obviously. I do not believe there is anything especial to the central-reactionary leadership of the Pheonix regarding the

Windigo's Diary

Opinion on the Frederick

This emperor is no different from old world's democratic leaders - no fire in his voice, no passion, just empty phrases, and passive-aggressive slogan chanting. People like him are the exact reason, why SC is where it is now. Gah, in order to not let liberty's flame die, I have crossed various red lines - both literally and figuratively. That said, when the reactionaries and fash will be gone, I will have to dispose the Marxist-Leninists as fast as possible - those are a second immediate threat after Tomi's fascists. With Anarchists, however, I could perhaps struck a some kind of deal... Same goes for native fighters, and other national liberation movements - perhaps if I would federalize the system, they would be more loyal.

*Back on the Emperor himself, there are a lot of things, which are straight up irrational. For an example, why the hell is grass in the image green? I thought, that this sh*thole still was a frigid wasteland, and even SC's settlers there had to adapt to the cold. Did it took place somewhere in more greener pastures? Would make sense, as you apparently were christened in Scandinavia...*

Moving further... he wears a hoodie, and dines with chips with a bunch of his friends? That's certainly not formal, not even talking about sneaking out of the royal palace without royal guards! I don't know, how a monarch is supposed to act, as I never have seen one in my world, but his characteristic is certainly not fitting for a leader. Yes, it is nice to be able to be the "man of the people", but in the end, one must remember about delicate separation of the leader, and his subordinates. Blur that line, and you have a recipe for disaster.

In the end, I see neither hope nor future for Antarctica under this ruler. His choice for marriage is certainly... err, progressive, but it doesn't matter in the end, if his democracy has no teeth. His reign is bland and forgettable. Perhaps get some actual spine, and not be like a centrist, who just wants to grill.

"Yeah, he's awesome and such, cuz he's kickin' fascist asses straight to the moon! But, I have a really bad feeling about, what's gonna happen, when he wins. What if he starts a witch hunt and a new era of oppression, where all innocent civilians, who were not fighting for him gonna be either killed or enslaved or pillaged or... be treated as second class citizens? And that phrase about separatin' oneself from the people... that doesn't sound very democratic, I tel ya' this. Well, either way, I hope, that when he wins, he will make a right choice.

And... what the hell is his issue about leader's free time and outfit? As long as he can lead, why can't he have a life? Damn... sometimes, I feel, that in some countries even a poor janitor has more freedom and happiness than it's head of state. For example, I am that dude with long hair, wearin' an awesome bandshirt, and I do love gettin' drunk, high on weed, or aventurin', with no escorts! And Skyhooked is still there, prosperin', just like under the council before me! Trust me... my people watch me, and if they decided, that I am incompetent, they'd quickly vote me out of power and I'd have no choice but to obey.

Remember, it is not the Marxists-Leninists, or other reds, that extinguish flames of liberty! That's one's own fear, that forces to betray very tenets of liberty. Witch hunt will only lead to darkness, as it will empower corrupt people, so they will report their neighbours, friends or even family members as "commies" for their own gain, while police and secret services corrupt men will just put everyone in jail to advance themselves in their career. They shall pervert the rule of law, and use the state as a weapon or a tool for blackmail." -Shawn Bjornson

Hm hm, this is the very first time that I have seen you, really! I have heard a little bit about you from Gwen, but I got some information regarding yourself as well! Well, well, how goes your day? I would just want to say... I hope that you will have a great and wonderful time with your rule, and I am sure that the people under you will love you for who you are. People like Mr. Shawn up there has their own way of ruling, and I am sure that they are happy by themselves! Not sure about the pity, but I think they are fine! As for yourself, I have no major issues with you, as always! ^^ I love seeing new people like you, you know? I think your view on the people outside could be changed, but I understand that not everyone thinks like me! But you can surely try for Ms. Clarissa here! ♥ Share a little love, share a little compassion, and the world will become a better place! Now, I must get going, my friend! And don't worry about me! I am not a killer machine that you see in other places, hm hm! You should go out there and make some friends too, like how I am going to meet some of your townsfolk, hm hm!

OFFICE OF THE PREMIER

Regarding Lord Ferrok of the Exilvania Remnants,

What is this, a fairytale? A Pagan God of mythology? His story seems comical at best, his nation and people barbaric at worst. I have no time for the fantasies of wastelands, solar empires, and evil legions that desecrate the Catholic Iron Guard.
