I sort of feel like that we're out of cliches to mention and talk about in this thread, like we've basically covered every cliché that can be found on an NS nation. I think that's a reason that we've deviated away from actual clichés about what nations do with themselves.

Well it's been nearly 500 pages, we can go over some again that haven't been covered in ages.

It's just that as I recall the Mods don't want chat threads, still remember being a part of one years ago that was fun but it was a different time.

Just like we used to have tourism threads and those got axed too....

I think the mods know this thread is basically the F7 chat thread but I don't think they care too much tbh.

Cause I think it's expected that discussions about NS clichés or whatever will lead to discussions about them or just general discussions about the forum and community as a whole.

Threads like these should be halal to moderation standards around here, I believe that the thing you may be thinking about is the C/CLT threads like the Ram's Head Saloon. Those threads in particular are forbidden because a bunch of mates couldn't help but use those threads for erotic RP and all that bullshittery. I don't think that this thread would fall under that category, given that this is more or less for discussion on a more specific topic rather than doing psuedo-RP and generally just talking to each other about whatever.

I guess I shouldn't be surprised.

I have any idea, why don't we all talk about clichés that are usually tied to summer posters, not to disparage them specifically, but more the clichés they fall into or surrounding them

Seems topical, and NS has been around for years so maybe older users noticed a difference?

I've been here since before 2013, but I have poor memory so I can barely remember the hi jinks each summer.

No.

This was all in F7 (and was actually the second time it's happened, which is honestly why any attempts to unban Chill/Chat Location Threads will never work out. This community has already shown twice it can't be trusted with these threads, why would they give y'all a third chance?)

Ah, it was an F7 thing.

Oh yeah, I know well that you can't trust communities to self police, seen that nonsense happen on another site where the bad behavior was just as a creepy.

It's a legit concern for any moderation forum really.

Moderators allow homophobes and transphobes to run rampant on the boards and yet if I (or anyone else here who is LGBT+) tells them to fuck off, we'll be the ones to get in trouble.

Yeah sure you can argue 'well that's rude' but why should we have to nice or polite to bigots who wish we didn't exist? That goes for all types of bigotry, yknow? LGBTphobes, racists, sexists, etc.

Exactly.

Freedom of speech doesn't mean freedom of acceptance. You can say whatever bigoted shit you want, just expect full consequences from everyone who doesn't agree with your hateful views.

That reminds me, here's a fun thing that managed to bait out a few transphobes, hilariously. It's clearly bait, but it drew them out anyways... Well, save for ZN who is just trying to bait in response to the bait despite falling for the initial bait and failing to lay bait in response. But eh, that's almost expected of him.

I'd hardly call an RP thread bait. I also wouldn't call people transphobes based on their IC responses either. Not everyone RPs according to their IRL views.

NS doesn't have Free Speech anyway (pretty sure that is an official policy they have), mods are just working inside the Flaming rules. Flaming is what I see warned for by far the most.

Closest I can come is that they think merely saying the word 'flaming' is something along the same lines of trollnaming... but I agree, the sentence is almost impossible to understand.

Plus, if my hypothesis is correct, the point would be incorrect. Simply talking about the act of flaming is not against the rules.

Godulan Puppet #2, Rping as technologically advanced tribal society founded by mongols and vikings (and later with multiple other Asian and Native American cultures) motivated by an intrinsic devotion to the spirit of competition. They'll walk softly, talk softly, and make soothing noises as they stab you in the back and take your stuff... unless you're another Caleshan, whereupon they'll only stab you in the back figuratively!

Used NS stats: Population. That's it. Anything else not stated in the factbooks is not used.

Huge Empire(i'm especsly talking space ones), forgetting that that means they have huge border and immense supply routes, and instead having all their super death ship 9000s attack in everywar.

Which brings me to two.

2

The X-deathinator 2000, you know what I'm talking about, the super death weapon(s) that nations says kills your nation/army instantly, and say is the best thing ever. I mostly see them here, but I'm only active here and NandIR. I think this place actually spawned a cycle of a sort of arms race, as I've seen multiple nations basically have weapons just for F-7, or made because of what they saw here.

Since I'm busy working on my factbook and don't wanna switch to my FT puppet...

1. Man, I feel like thats all way too common, and it kinda always happens with FFT ones too.

Like oh wow, you have a billion universes under your rule, and yet you have like no concept of the logistics and the consequences of everything you're talking about.

2. Glad I'm not the only one to notice this, F-7 arms races are the silliest arms races.
