The Yeglan Arms Manufacturing Industry is in charge of keeping the Yegla Islands army ready to respond to anything. One of these industries is the Defensive Design and Development Concern, abbreviated to DDDC. The DDDC's main purpose is to test military equipment as it is developed. It has highly classified testing laboratories and facilities throughout Yegla Islands.

Despite the art in this image having clear Egyptian and Mesoamerican inspiration, the script used in it reminds me of the Cherokee and Burmese scripts more than anything else (Although I can admittedly see a tiny bit of Proto-Sinaitic in there if I really squint my eyes)

Regardless of the propagandistic tone of their History section, I managed to find out that there was a Philippine Republic that collapsed because of political infighting. This Philippine Republic was then turned into a puppet state of sorts.

The military of Inkopolitia only fights defensively, or in defense of another country. Highly corrosive ink and bioweapons are used. Experiments with nanobot implants have resulted in enhanced strength in soldiers, with only a handful dying from complications.

They are also capable of orbital kinetic strikes and EMP bursts, but no one is supposed to know about this. There is also a dedicated cyberwarfare division, and a contingency plan in the case of the homeland being invaded, involving mass conscription and guerilla warfare.

Their flag was officially adopted on March 9, 1968 and is known as the Negimaru (ネギ丸) or "green onion circle". The shapes, colors, and patterns of the flag are generally tied to their culture, physical location, and national prosperity. The "hair of Hatsune Miku" is connected to the country's founder, according to folklore, who was also a well-known and legendary singer.

Partially inspired by the Third Odyssey mod for EU4, this nation is essentially a Byzantine successor state in South America that has fused together Ancient Greek Religion with Greek Orthodox Christianity. It mixes the aesthetic of Byzantium and Ancient Greece, with very open and liberal social values but with an Imperial Monarchy. NS stats are referenced but are not strictly followed to a T.

Their dominant religion is purportedly followed by over 98% of the total population. That's... quite the figure. Especially in an early modern environment.

The Leviathan hates the captain's dog, to the point of mentioning it over and over again in his unofficial rules. The unofficial rules are also surprisingly draconian if you ignore the captain's notes and don't read to the end.

It is a tiny island in the Northeast Atlantic Ocean that was colonized by the Portuguese and then the English. They declared independence as a parliamentary republic, a few years after the United States of America did. They were neutral in WWI. Fascists gained power in the late 1930s, resulting in a civil war; afterwards, fascism was condemned and the country sided with the Allies. Today, it has a developed economy with services and IT, many diplomatic relations, and an extensive education system.

Their an Israeli Theocratic Military Dictatorship that has conquered sizable chunks of the Muslim World, with their territorial boundaries ironically resembling those of the Ottoman Empire.

Ruled by the extreme Jewish nationalist group Lehi, they are allied with Nouveau Quebecois and have adopted the Nazi salute (as historically, Lehi thought Great Britain was worse for Jewish people than Nazi Germany).
