To prevent this in the future I would recommend linking your other dispatches in your factbook, or just making your dispatches factbooks.

Instead of nuking Japan cause they were presumably allies, this imperial America nuked the other major island nation of the world, Britain. The country somehow also got the peace deal of a lifetime, probably taking the most land of any country out of any war ever.

Coryana employs a state-ideology that promotes pacifism, conservation and non-interference. For a hivemind philosophy, it is also surprisingly individualistic.

Ah sorry, I didn't pick up on that somehow, although now reading it again it does seem obvious. I must have just been confused by the wording of it; it does seem weird that "King Adelbrand I can trace his own bloodline to [himself]"

For AN: Their queen is very politically active, which is unusual for a constitutional monarchy. Her attempts to lobby for more power to be given to the Crown are worrying, and potentially pose a threat democracy within their nation.

Their religion, Catharism, has played a major role in their history especially in the formation of the nation where they fought against the Catholics who declared a crusade against their home region, then Occitan and friends won. And in present times, they are ranked as one of the best in the world having the largest economy.

Aside from the obvious neko thing. Las Palmeras restored their indigenous monarchy after independence. They also successfully fought off an American invasion in what became known "America's Gallipoli", in which Teddy Roosevelt was a casualty. Teddy Roosevelt died fighting nekos, quite a timeline, not that I have any room to talk.
