What is this "tradition" the only tradition that is widely popular is high-effort, creative, original, and impassioned roleplays. Most players come here for that, and not to pollute the forums with "haha I nuke your country with over 9000 nukes."

I think you are painting a very misrepresentative picture of NS RP.

Republic of Dayganistan

A secular, Tajik dominated state in Central Asia which has experienced 40 years of democratic backsliding. NS stats are NOT used.

You're painting a picture of NS RP that has never really existed outside of guides, and has always had to defend itself against the natural form of NS RP that is never beaten down no matter how many mentors get shiny badges (to zero effect). Half the RP community decamped years ago into writing IIWiki articles and the occasional news post. There's still a chasm between multi-paragraph posts and complete novellas btw, the former really aren't 'gloriously long posts'.

B-b-but FLAMBASS does it all the tiiiiiiiiime!

Anyway: I dunno what the argument is atm, but I LIKE long posts... as can be seen in the RPs linked in the sig for this nation and for Godular.

I've never liked 'competitive' RPs because it all just turns into dickwaving and attempts at Gotcha-Pong.

Godulan Puppet #2, RPing as technologically advanced tribal society founded by mongols and vikings (and later with multiple other Asian and Native American cultures) motivated by an intrinsic devotion to the spirit of competition. They'll walk softly, talk softly, and make soothing noises as they stab you in the back and take your stuff... unless you're another Caleshan, whereupon they'll only stab you in the back figuratively!

Used NS stats: Population. That's it. Anything else not stated in the factbooks is not used.

Oh, that? I'd forgotten about that unpleasant business here in this very thread - my accusations were wrong in hindsight, but understandable in context. That group I used to 'belong' to, I don't really think they'd let Forum 7ers (who don't just do it as a side-gig) join them. It's sort of like that, sorry.
