Belize and Honduras is a Latin American country that became a First World Social Democracy due to industrialization and land reform made possible by Five Year Plans.

El Presidente's decades rule was marked by economic reform but it also ignored workers' rights and led to bloody massacres and uprisings such as the "Mosquito Coast Massacre". Belize and Honduras prospered and was known as the "Latin American Jaguar" and the "Miracle on the Rio Grande".

Now it exports pop music made by teenage Latina schoolgirl idol groups, television dramas and is known as the plastic surgery capital of the world.

What's the deal with rainbows? I mean sure, they are pretty, but why do people think they're gay? So there's a rainstorm, then it stops and the sun comes out. When people look at the new rainbow, do people think, "Oh, it's pretty!", or do they think, "That's gay"? What is up with that?

Their foreign ministry will likely receive a recurring bunch of annoying messages about how their incredibly cursed or the literal devil from so-called "free" nations who have no problem of having roving death squads called on anyone with a slightly different opinion than them.

Most NS Stats and Policies are somewhat accurate to how I envision this nation, but please try to judge this nation primarily based on its factbooks.

This is my attempt to write a nation that embodies my political views, but is also played realistically, showcasing both the upsides and downsides of my ideal system. Most factbooks are still an active WIP, so let me know if there's anything you think can be improved upon

Their country has a relatively decent public transportation system and that fact isn't going to change for a long period of time.
