The African Emirates wrote:

Just coming back from the Lunar King's party, Capuchin-Alpha is just passing Mars when a bright light shines through the window. He looks outside in first curiosity, and then horror.

Deimos has crashed into Mars, all but decimating the homeworld of the Catgirls, the Na'xiso, and many others. Capuchin-Alpha's ship was the first to land on the doomed planet, but was only able to evacuate some government officials in the Catgirl Capital. Immediate rescue efforts would soon arrive from Catgirls and Capuchins in the Asteroid Belt and on Phobos.

The ship performed an in-system jump from Martian Orbit to Earth and dropped a powered-armor-encased Capuchin-Alpha on M'yni'ah's location.

He chitters somberly, and his suit translates for him

"Mars has fallen. We are doing what we can, and now I shall do what I must. How can I help you to stop this madness?"

M'yni'ah and Capuchin-Alpha are talking onboard a large warship that was originally built on the hull of a large spacecraft. She points from the deck up above where there are bright sparks of light. "The Gods are fighting each other now. Two foreign gods from another universe are also here to fight Lord Veemaa or Supreme Man. I think they're called Giselle and Master Man."

Then M'yni'ah sighs. "By getting involved in this conflict. Mars was at risk. There's not much we can do but finish the fight so Earth doesn't end up the same." After saying that M'yni'ah pulls out a map hidden inside the uniform's shoulder pocket. "We need your help though, Capuchin-Alpha. The fleet we have here was at the point of nearly surrounding the waters of Nuuk, Greenland, but then Supreme Man arrived and started ruining stuff. However, the Gods are distracting Supreme Man in the meantime, which gives us a chance to capture Nuuk the capital of Catalonia. Capturing Nuuk would be easy but they have a giant electromagnetic railgun system that is giving us trouble. Can you take some troops and take it out?"

The Nuuk railgun was a railgun system of twenty railguns that were positioned all around the city of Nuuk. They could fire projectiles at a 5km/s, making them a powerful weapon.

Meanwhile, the Gods, with their numbers, actually start damaging Supreme Man. He stumbles as he tries to punch Master Man with a powerful energy punch, but Giselle tussles Supreme Man down, and Burrito Chimichanga bites Supreme Man's leg which causes excruciating pain. Supreme Man flings Giselle off but his powerful moves are matched by Master Man, his apprentice from another universe. Whom he thought was dead.

The H Corporation wrote:

In the city of New Tenochtitlan (Mexico City), a man walks in the middle of the jungles and arrives at the Temple. He is amazed by his discovery and looks for the ancient writings of the Aztec Gods, that was lost in the conquering of Montana of the city. Unbeknownst to him he fell on a trap and got himself captured by the natives who did not spare a second to do a sacrifice to please their gods.

Meanwhile Africa starts demanding Independence from Byzantium, protesting peaceful until someone said the forbidden words "Waka waka eh eh, tsamina mina zangalewa, 'cause this is Africa" and millions of people start to become aggressive towards the Byzantines, as if like a primitive feeling came out of them without them noticing starting the wars of Independence for Africa

Hungary invades Austria to reverse the roles of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and create the Hungarian-Austrian Empire

Hitler as he governs Bavaria is furious that the Asuncion Pact ally Hungary decided to invade another ally, Austria. In truth, Adolf is angry because he was planning an Anschluss with Austria since Supreme Man and the rest of the Catalan governance were distracted doing other things. But now the Austro-

Hungarian Empire existed which ruined Hitler's plans. And so in an act of fury, Hitler utilized his control of the resources of Bavaria and Catalan-occupied Germany and launched a surprise invasion into Austria-Hungary.

In Sweden, Catalan troops are having a hard time maneuvering through the mountains in one of the harshest blizzards to ever hit the Scandinavian Peninsula. And now they are sitting ducks for Nordic troops.

Central America and New State continue waging war.

The Hungarian-Austrians fight against Mr. Smithler using only propaganda against the Germans which slows them down as the Hungarian-Austrian Empire smacks the hell out of the Austrians and sends them to battle for Austria as the Hungarians stay in their own country and only attack the Germans when they get to Vienna.

Emus summons a giant church of Gio on Titan (saturn moon, not thanos titan)

Then Emuus and Uno Reverse Savior try and restore mars, but since I rolled a 3 if they actually succeed they end up accidentally sending bits and pieces of mars speeding towards the asteroid belt.

Remember those chunks of mars? Well those ended up hitting multiple asteroids and sent them across the solar system.

A extremely small asteroid hits Titan, causes no damage except a sign being broken.

A few small asteroids also hit earth, causing little damage, a few houses destroyed here and there.

One hits Nuuk and causes damage to the capital building.

Currently, there is a dispute over which country is the real Japan.
