Very damn great hard rock. One of those brilliant bands that you've never heard (possibly.)

Name seems vaguely familiar, but I don't know anything about their music.

Muse-Survival

Totally worth checking.

"Katsastuslalu" by Popeda

"Katsastuslalu" means "Vehicle Inspection Song".

Edit: I'm really starting to dig Aviv Geffen's voice. Probably because I love accents.

I haven't listened to the full album of their first one (a 24-song album is impressive), but from what I've heard of it, I prefer the most recent one. I like quite a lot of songs on that one.

My favorite now is probably Seven Devils, and What The Water Gave Me being up there. The lyrics for Seven Devils is just so fitting for Game of Thrones, it was perfect that they used it. And I like dark lyrics.

Blackfield-End Of The World.

Which is probably obvious by this song name.

I love "What the Water gave me". What you said about their first album isn't true: that's the special edition.

Anyway, "Howl", "Girl with one Eye" (which I'm listening now) and "You've got the loe" are magnificent, with the rest being between good and great.

Second album also features great stuff like "Lover to Lover" and, of course, "No Light, No Light".

Atomizer's my favourite BB release now. I though it'd be SAF forever.

My Broken Hear Will Never Mend, Harvey Milk.

it's kinda dull honestly.

Wait no it's getting interesting now.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

I actually like quite a lot from the second album. I only know a few songs from the first well, and I don't like them as much as the second album. Still not bad.

Sigur Ros-Milano

Singin' to this and sounding terrible as usual.

Edit: And to think I used to sound worse, where as soon as I hit high notes I'd just instantly cut out. Now I at least hit them 'better'.
