Although they have a fair amount of political parties, the closest to a conservative party (that does still exist) is a biblical law party. and even that party doesn't have much support.

Taxarstan's de facto controlled territory consists of three regions: Jammu, the Valley of Oros, and Udamistan. Suryanagar is the summer capital, and Jammu is the winter capital. The Valley of Oros is famous for its beautiful mountainous landscapes, and Jammu's numerous shrines attract tens of thousands of Hindu pilgrims every year, while Udamistan is renowned for its remote mountain beauty and Buddhist culture.

Their canon's version of Hitler -Volks Vagen- ended up very similarly to the other Hitler; that is, him and his Nazi state defeated and with the Red Army (of Wawakanote in this case) on his capital's doorstep before he took a cyanide capsule and shot himself in the head. And punnily, he was also responsible for a series of a certain brand of cheap and reliable cars.

Their president, Andrew Malcolm, is exceptionally young for a national leader, which may explain why his politics borrow from such a wide range of sources. These have influenced his political party, the North Star Party, which typically finds its support in urban areas.

I need to do the Beil's own factbook, but the basic reason is that member states are expected to have a democratic form of government. The Beil failed to implement a democratic system, instead maintaining an oligarchic hereditary system.

The Communist Party works on the parts of the economy that the government has deemed "non-vital". The Party's key role in guiding Kronova's economy is prescribed in its constitution, where it is described as, "an all-union of tradesmen, communes, and workers of Kronova." Whenever the Presidium ratifies a Five Year Plan for action, it is sent to Party leadership to be enacted as according to their instructions.
