They list dozens of combos, breakfast food menus and their respective prices but apparently don't list caloric content.

AN: Their hatred of Nazis and Nazi-sympathizers is described as a "knee-jerk response", in great part because neo-Nazis in Godular were responsible for a civil war that spanned entire centuries...wow, that makes the Anni di piombo look like child's play in comparison.

The constitution of the Federation is divided into 5 sections. The first section being that their nation can override election and ban people. It also deals with when an election is set and where they will be appointed. The second section mainly just names the position of authority. The third section deals with appointments and scenarios on if a vote fails. The fourth section deals with citizenship, and the 5th section deals with RMB rules. The constitution can be changed by their nation at any time.

Greenwichian Arcadia was apparently one of the first nations on Earth to adopt the Metric System, as their science minister (and former 1st president and founder, Nicole Greenwich) led to its use before the 1810s.

Palmeran women, due to the sex ratio overwhelmingly in their favor, experience significantly more prevalent homosexuality. Female bisexuality is tolerated within Las Palmeras' Conservative sector. However, female homosexuality was considered a mental disease until relatively decently.

New Spiedska is the same in the sense there are a lot more bi and lesb girls xd

The colonial-era of NewSpiedska is similar to that of our timeline, but with Inklings. During this time, the area of what we would call modern day New York State is New Amsterdam. Later on the English would take it off them and develop it as a part of the other 12 colonial territories. Similarly in our timeline, there is a war of independence, which New Spedskia would win in 1783. However, in 1865 a civil war breaks out that lasts for 10 years, which kills 7% of the female population.

The culture of Karamiko is quite open and inclusive. It is also respectful and honourable. Such examples include bowing, which is borrowed from the Japanese; however, with some differences. The open inclusive greetings include hugging or waving, if they are someone they know. It's quite the nice place to visit.

The Sildoran Global Assembly, counting with 45 nations at it's founding, was created after a (possibly) large war that almost resulted in the nuclear eradication of all species in the Sildora Prime planet - Sildorians themselves included.

Technically it's forty five minor and seventeen major (62 nations)

Anyway: Their modern territory was originally colonized by the Dutch and the English in -respectively- the North and the South, and they fought alongside the Thirteen Colonies to get their independence.

AN: Dukin Donuts opened its first Franchise five years after its "founding" donut and coffee restaurant in Quincy, Massachusetts called "Steaming Kettle." was opened. For some reason, the -I'm assuming- small coffee shop had executives when it was opened.

Arendelle -a nation controlling parts of the Low Countries in addition to Denmark, Norway and parts of Sweden- fought the "Entente" alongside Prussia and Holland in form of the Winter Coalition, forcing a humiliating defeat on the Entente in a war that began in March 1848 and ended in June 1849.
