Queen- Under Pressure

I hate how Vanilla Ice stole the bass intro, and put it in Ice Ice Baby.

It's called sampling, and it's often done with permission. I'm not much of a fan of sampling existing music, but I am of sampling speeches and stuff, like with this.

Death Grips - Beware

I don't think it was done with permission that time.

Queen- Play the Game

Awesome singing, awesome lyrics, awesome instrumentals, awesome music video!

Death Grips sample the Beastie Boys on Spread Eagle Across the Block and it's so fucking good.

Keep Quiet, the Protomen.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

That's a prime examples of when I like it when existing music is sampled. I don't think I would do it myself, tho.

I'm pretty sure Vanilla Ice stole the whole rhythm of his song from another song, yet got huge for it. And if I recall, he didn't give permission, but I don't know. Same with some terrible band I regret ever liking having their whole career pretty much be (whole career being they had about 1 popular song) a song where they stole a part directly from a Red Hot Chili Peppers song.

Lanterna-Venture

That sucks. Red Hot Chili Peppers is a nice band.

Queen- The Show Must Go On

I just love this song.

In other words — and this is the rock solid principle on which the whole of the Corporation's Galaxy-wide success is founded — their fundamental design flaws are completely hidden by their superficial design flaws.
