Here's a cliché. When an RP thread is trying to slowly build up to conflict and out of nowhere someone comes in and pulls a Pearl Harbor, not sensing the vibe from other players. Why yes, I did just see that during my lurking of II.

Would this be referring to a certain nation with zero RP skill, three trillion puppets and a suspiciously high amount of people in his royal family wanting to get hitched?

I know who you're referring to, I do not believe it was them or any of their group.

South Reinkalistan wrote:

As someone who likes RPing there a lot, it's actually very upsetting to see how shit the board can get. You do need to sort the wheat from the chaff.

I want to like II. I want to have RP partners in II that I can do fun stuff with that doesn't have to be competitive and is more focused on telling a story. But it's either a lot of one lining crap, or closed groups. Very little RP that's of at least an intermediate level where there's more of a focus on telling a story than being competitive which is open to the general public.

To be fair, I'm in an impromptu RP group on II that you could get involved. We've got a more story-focused RP going right now; you don't need to be a particularly advanced milsporg/RPer to join though, you just don't need to be a onelineposter.

As much as I want to do military RP, I also wouldn't mind doing a social/party type RP so I can characterize some of my leadership and other VIPs better but those are basically non-existent at the moment. Or they're run by coronaposters who also use them to one line.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions, including sales, purchases, and expenses. It emphasizes the need for a systematic approach to record-keeping, such as using a ledger or accounting software, to ensure that all financial data is properly documented and organized.

The second part of the document focuses on the importance of regular reconciliation of accounts. It explains how reconciling accounts helps to identify and correct errors, ensuring that the financial statements are accurate and reliable. This process involves comparing the company's records with bank statements and other external sources to verify the accuracy of the data.

The third part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining proper documentation for all financial transactions. It highlights the need for receipts, invoices, and other supporting documents to provide evidence for the recorded transactions. This documentation is crucial for auditing purposes and for ensuring the integrity of the financial records.

The fourth part of the document addresses the importance of maintaining accurate records of assets and liabilities. It explains how tracking assets and liabilities helps to determine the company's net worth and financial position. This involves regularly updating the balance sheet and other financial statements to reflect the current state of the company's finances.

The fifth part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of cash flows. It explains how tracking cash inflows and outflows helps to manage the company's liquidity and ensure that there is enough cash to cover all obligations. This involves regularly updating the cash flow statement and other financial statements to reflect the current state of the company's cash position.

The sixth part of the document addresses the importance of maintaining accurate records of taxes. It explains how tracking taxable income and expenses helps to calculate the company's tax liability and ensure that all taxes are properly paid. This involves regularly updating the tax return and other financial statements to reflect the current state of the company's tax position.

i'll never forget Kyundao plaguing II, epitome of "I NYOOK YOU" then getting pissy when people powerwank in return

Kyundao wrote:

Letter of Condemnation to South Reinkalistan from the Capitalist Party of Kyundao:

We are deeply disturbed and supremely offended by South Reinkalistan's support for crimes against humanity despite our reports confirming all of Nacrad's claims as true. To this end, and aware of the South Reinkalistani navy's crippled status, we have enacted a military blockade and are threatening nuclear strikes against South Reinkalistan unless two conditions are met: they rescind their illegal declaration of war and condemn the Kongs government for crimes against humanity.

In the event of nuclear retaliation on South Reinkalistan's part, we have a highly advanced anti-nuclear defense system spanning our entire nation so we say this to South Reinkalistan: choose wisely.

South Reinkalistan is a massive, ecologically-diverse nation notable for its roving student militias and widespread hatred for the elderly. In the midst of a room-temperature cultural revolution that's lost its momentum, the Party carefully plans its next move. As the brittle bones of fragile empires begin to crack beneath their own weight, history's symphony reaches crescendo pitch. The future is all but certain.

I do remember it but at the same time I have no desire to remember it and thus I shall put you through the pain of reading it again for the rest of us.
