Not my favorite post rock, but I enjoy them. Going through all of their music (again, really, though I don't remember a lot of songs very well so that is why I am going through them). They were the 3rd post-rock band I got into, behind Explosions in the Sky and Sigur Ros

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
