The nation was created when Donald Trump's incompetence led to a civil war and a superhuman Rome LARPer ended up coming out on top.

The Inkopolitian-British War was fought between the Kingdom of Great Britain and Queendom of Inkpolitia between 1709 and 1718 over a British claim that Inkpolitian piracy had threatened British naval trade in the region. The war ended with a British victory and the formation of the Crown Colony of the Inklings and Octolings.

Because the answer that UCA provided doesn't give your nation justice... I will do it for you.

NGR's North Germany Overview, Section - The Great War wrote:

This treaty is seen by many historians as an influential reason for the beginning of the second Great War 20 years later. North Germany was granted 1,142 kilometers of land out of South German territory, and it annexed minor colonial possessions from Britain in Africa, Asia, and Oceania.

I learned about this amongst many others. I wonder if you mean a literal 1142 km of land, like a stretch or a line, or 1142 km². I didn't mean to nitpick, but I just found this observation, haha!
The latter will mean that your nation got 33.793490 km x 33.793490 km of land, which... is pretty damn fine piece of land, actually. It's like being given 1.5 of Singapore (which is 721.5 km² big).

A trademark of a dictatorship, and something that I have learned... the very fact that they have to state that sports are indeed legal. The jaywalking bit, I'm fine with that, and the chewing gum... is actually not unlike Singapore (contrary to popular belief, importing a few packs for your personal consumption is fine; you just can't sell it here or import large amounts).

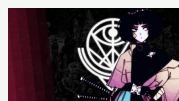

EDIT to Respond: Ahh, that would explain why! Because for everything here, it is more or less like Singapore, including drinking. Smoking... it's legal, but just not in many, MANY places, so it's effectively illegal for the most parts.

That particular factbook is mostly made up of answering questionnaires in FaNI. The legality of sports isn't really questioned in Khoronzon, it was just part of the template to fill out. As for chewing gum, it isn't specified there but it was actually directly inspired by Singapore. Khoronzon would probably be a fair bit more draconian about public cleanliness than Singapore though.

In Valentine Z's timeline, Cuba was not an ally of the Soviet Union. Instead, it allied itself with the United States and the rest of NATO. Valentine Z's world saw amazingly fast technology development, too, with Quantum physics being completely dominated in the 50's. In 1958, the World (Or at least the West) saw a barrage of new civilian technology, including flat screens, smart phones, VR headsets, cameras, etcetera. Cancer was made a thing of the past, with advancements into DNA modification technology.

As such, all the Very Red Army's forces must do is travel through the resultant Gulag network to their destination - a task in which they are aided by the patented U-Go-Lag™ transit system, which accelerates Gulag-goers to several times the speed of light. This may or may not result in several thousand deaths per transit - casualties are meaningless in the face of Stalin's glory.

Sophie of North Germany she-eute made national headlines in North Germany when she requested to be enlisted in the North German Navy instead of the Army. Her father, (presumably) Emperor Friedrich accepted this, with the fear that Sophie would be a victim of misogyny. Her time in the navy saw the North German intervention in the Chilean-Argentinian War, on which North Germany fought against the Argentinians.

1. You didn't read anything after the first three words if that's your only comment (and my factbook has hit the character limit so its not as if there isn't anything more there to read...)

2. republics, Notice the plural form? My nation consists of three regions, all of which are their own federal republics. Hence federation of the federal republics of Roelandia. You would have known that had you looked a bit further...

"The Great Dying", a 4 year period of rapid population loss due to a disease eliminated almost half of the nation's population.
