Opioids aren't prohibited, but trafficking them is certainly a crime.
Depending on the how, it could be a fine of up to $5,000 and a stay in penitentiary between 3 months to 3 years.

That depends. Weed? Legal. Specifically during a music festival? Legal. Are you a pharmacist? Legal with prescription.

None of the above? Into the Colosseum. The brutality of your event will be determined by how unsafe your payload was.

There aren't any laws that criminalise the promotion of certain ideologies, but the State engineers and supports media blackouts and social stigma towards ideologies deemed dangerous to British society - anarchy is one of those. The individual(s) involved would face social ostracism from the media and loyal citizenry.

Not necessarily enforceable, but if it gets rowdy, the funeral organizers have the right to have them escorted off the property. Not only that, they will get stared at.

You'll more than likely be put in jail for a LONG time, and you'd more than likely get a fine that you wouldn't be able to pay within your lifetime (to pay for the damages and the police investigation), meaning you'd more than likely have to work for the government for the rest of your life.
