They have an entire factbook of random stuff just to give folks in F7 stuff to work with. Very considerate!

I for one was drawn towards their impressive but inefficient technology setup. A PS2 with streaming but still using nintendo style cartridges. Huh.

There was an attempt by some humans to assassinate (presumably) a key Inking figure named Mizuki II, and they were subsequently burned in a public execution.

Less of a physical manifestation, more like legends and folklore.

An alternate history version of China in which the alliance between the Kuomintang and the Communist Party never broke down, eventually resulting in a federalized, democratic China. Though one of the world's strongest economies and an emerging superpower, China continues to suffer from high rates of income inequality, an overreaching and sometimes corrupt government, and cultural issues that continue to persist despite the efforts of many reformers over the decades. Most factbooks are still an active WIP.

Instead of Wang Jingwei (who was the first president of the Chinese Federation in this timeline), Chiang Kai-shek established the collaborationist puppet government with Imperial Japan after his agents assassinated Wang in 1938.

Wang Jingwei was succeeded by Song Qingling, the first non-hereditary female head of state, who led the resistance against Japan.

They are a democratic republic with a president who serves as both the head of government and state while also serving a one-time 3 year term (little short in my opinion). And, according to the constitution (circa. 1968), the country has banned political parties.

Kabzeel, meaning "God's Gathering" in hebrew, is a federal, dominant-party, socialist(non-marxist)constitutional monarchy with a rich Jewish heritage dating back to it's creation in 845 CE. Today, it spans almost the entirety of Eastern Europe and is the largest predominately Jewish and female-led state in the world as it follows the doctrine of "Royal Socialism", a paternalistic conservative ideology with an emphasis on socialization, social ownership, and conservative feminism. Its relationship with Israel is noticeably rocky, but this is due to the ongoing complications between Kabzeelian and Israeli Zionism.

With the abject failure of the Zionist Congress clear to see, the Bund swept in and after the Second World War ended, put one of the States of Germany under occupation and permanent settling so as to carve it into a "Homeland" for the Jews.
