I've conceptualized at least 20 more political parties for my nation (no questions please I like political parties lol) for the past weeks but never put them in.

Here's a cliché I guess that I use in my lore: Nations that realistically probably wouldn't join together to be one country or would last very long as one country. In my lore I have one nation in which a nation corresponding to France's West African territories unite as one country.

It's pretty easy to forget, honestly! Don't best yourself up too much, but definitely throw farming infrastructure a bone. I need to flesh out my nations more...

Planning factbook refreshes/design updates and never doing them

For reference this was originally called "2021 Refresh" then "2022 Refresh" now perhaps more realistically sports the "2022 - 23" timeline.

It has ONE (1) new textbox in it after about 10 months.

That reminds me; only two of the twelve links on my factbook-as-website actually lead anywhere.

Here's a cliché using pictures of real people to represent your characters and then proceed to run with this and make it painfully obvious by saying it out right even though when you look back on it you cringe to yourself.

Yeah, Yugo-nostalgia exists. Not going to lie, it's kind of a plague in Western internet circles. But it is very easy to just group together all the South Slavs on a map and call them Yugoslavia in any given alternate-history because fuck going into actual Slavic history beyond Tito apparently.
