Starting to get into some of the weirder subgenres of black metal for no particular reason.

Which subgenres?

Demonaz - A Son of the Sword

A mishmash. Progressive viking metal, post-black metal (the last Abigail Williams album, Agalloch, etc.), melodic black metal (totally digging Dark Fortress), black/doom and so on. Black metal is surprisingly diverse.

Immortal - All Shall Fall

All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Song about oilfields involving the end of the world. I get the feeling this isn't a positive song about oilfields.

My kind of song about the oilfields.

Show Spoiler

I really like these kinds of songs by them. The ones that are "contemporary classical" that sounds like you're listening to a soundtrack with interesting vocals, and this kind of soundtrack music usually bores me.

everyone knows that quote, "I know not what weapons World War Three will be fought, but World War Four will be fought with sticks and stones," but in a way it's optimistic and inspiring because it suggests that even after destroying civilization and returning to the stone age we'll still be sufficiently globalized and bellicose to have another world war right then and there Sounds kind of like a western movie fight scene soundtrack song. Or a song from Red Dead Redemption. Minus the singing.

I assume you've tried Abbath's other band "I"? Its genre is black/heavy. It works quite well.
