I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Happy Birthday - Devin Townsend Project

Disregard the title, this is a god-tier song.

That's probably one of the closest Muse songs to being some form of metal, though I don't know if I would go as far to say it is metal.

Edit: Okay, maybe I would. Just listened to it.
