Napalm Death - Next On The List (Live)

I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

While some devolve into mainstream classic rock listeners, others persevere.

I wouldn't say devolve. More like some choose to take a break from the weird and publicly unknown to listen to the tried and true. It's certainly not a bad thing.

The music of "4:33" by John Cage (in other words nothing ☐)

Ah, I see you are one of those people who think that all hit parade music is 'good' music by default. Granted, it is a tried and true method to stifle progress.
