Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.

Most Aquarians of my stature are not well-versed in extraterrestrial races so you can understand my shock when I first you as something not Aquarian nor human. So, um. Getting back on topic, Zen has presented himself to a capable leader yet with an unfinished background story that justifies his rise to power, and surprisingly enough, the Alien Ceaser, as a thing against the Jews. Not sure though. I'm guessing his universe has space Jews and all their stereotypes are true? Anyway, my assessment is positive based on hearing you are on good terms with the Chancellor.

Ignoring the whole “Hate gains me power” nonsense. If I wish to take you seriously to not appear as a copy pasta of my liege, the Chancellor. The Emperor is quite a benevolent and pragmatic ruler over his “galactic” empire. He understands that only a firm hand is the only correction method in governing a people, and not a bunch of self-serving clowns elected by the ill-informed populace. Democracy is a failure and shall forever be seen as a failure in my eyes. Although, the Emperor seems to be misguided on slavery, I see it as an effective method in breaking conquered subjects to erase whatever barbaric custom they are trying to preserve while foolishly refusing to recognize that is how they were defeated in the first place. They all came around through a couple of days to several years, depending on how strong their wills are, before they break down and awaken to see, they are wrong, and their masters' way of life and philosophy is the correct way and only way for their personal salvation out of a miserable situation. I hope the Emperor reconsiders his position on slavery but if not, oh well, I can't do anything about it. Besides being the diplomat and accepting his position. Overall my assessment is positive and I wish him a prosperous future.

This "King" is no ruler and no model for anyone to look up too, if they were not a fool. Antimachus has doomed his countrymen to misery and unregulated corruption as he pushes for the democratization of the Kingdom to point, where any means to undo his disastrous crusade for a brighter future for his people with a democratic state. I hope, no, I demand the High Councilors in Thakkia react quickly and see this deluded man removed from office before any more damage can be inflicted on the Thakkia Kingdom. His assessment is not only borderline hostile.
