Yes, all musical references are intentional.

The Rhythm Nation was founded in 1369 and is still around as late as 5000 AD, so I can RP in any tech setting you want. But magic does exist and can be used, and this is non-negotiable.

MGMT-Alien Days

Okay, honestly, I am quite pleased with this. It isn't what I expected it to be but it is rather good. The ending of the song is unsettling in its own MGMT way.

While their last album wasn't as popular, I honestly thought that as a whole it was a more musically interesting and complex album then their first one, and I liked it more as a whole. If this album is in the general same realm as this song (but not exactly like it), I could like it quite a bit.

I'm really quite enjoying it. I've been an MGMT fan somewhat since their first album (or first widely released album), but this song is being very promising as one of their best. You saw my opinion of the last album above, I'm sure.

Just seen it, yeah. A lot of people are beginning to prefer Congratulations now, but Oracular Spectacular, for me, is just an incredible pop album. I like Congratulations, but I much prefer the style of their debut.

Faine Jada - Introspection

It definitely is good in its own way, I agree. It is a good psychedelic pop/rock album. I think I just like the 2nd one more because I like the songwriting more in some ways, but there are plenty of songs on Oracular Spectacular I really quite enjoy. Neither of them I would consider to be bad.

Even though all of their music is in the psychedelic realm, I'm just glad to see that they are clearly evolving in their style on each album. It is all very clearly MGMT, but each album appears to be in its own sort of league, and I think that is what bands should do. Kinda like how Sigur Ros is clearly Sigur Ros but they are always evolving their sound, pretty drastically in the current album for example.

Karn Evil Nine is a horror-themed FT/FanT nation. Expect zombies, demons, eldritch abominations, monster clowns, vampires, werewolves, xenomorphs and possibly carnivorous/evil fairies. Because, you know, realism is overrated.
