Pharoahe Monch – Stand Your Ground

8/10 for this album. Very deep lyrics that deal with depression and addiction, illness, etc, among other things. Production was excellent as well. Monch, however, didn't always deliver that well, though he improved significantly towards the middle and end of the album.

Bob Marley - Natural Mystic

"There's a natural mystic blowing through the air;

If you listen carefully now you will hear.

This could be the first trumpet, might as well be the last:

Many more will have to suffer,

Many more will have to die - don't ask me why.

Things are not the way they used to be..."

I don't think I've ever listened to Exodus all the way through...feels incredible sense of shame ☐

I don't think anyone can just look at my music I post and be like "This guy must like metal!", because I could switch to something else 5 seconds later.
