Monkey 2319 failed to put tire chains on his car, slipped on an icy spot on a mountain road and plummeted to his death.

Monkey 2318 broke the chain about chains and caused Chain-ception.

Monkey 2316 screwed up time and caused the chain to be messed up, causing many monkeys to either be revived or wiped from existence, and had accidentally killed himself in the process of restoring the timeline.

Monkey 2315 watched a YouTube video in which Alphonse demonstrated how to make a time machine out of a toaster. But Alphonse's instructions didn't work and Monkey 2315 died. The next day, Alphonse posted a new version of his video in which he suggested doubling the amount of dynamite.

Monkey 2311 drives to a bridge directly above a modestly busy highway late at night. He thinks. He thinks, a lot. He thinks about what has happened in his life, and wonders what he could possibly do about it. He thinks about how faint hope seems, and he wishes he was just being irrational.

No, Monkey 2311 is completely rational. Any honest person would agree that this is the only way out of his situation. He knows, all hope is lost.

He exits his car, and approaches the bridge. As he is a monkey, he climbs over the little fence they put in place to try and stop him. Pathetic. He stands upon the fence. A gust of wind, and he is dead.

Monkey 2309 was driving his way to his relatives who lived on Long Island....during 9/11. He didn't understand what all the panic was about until it was too late, as he was smothered in rubble from one of the 2 fallen buildings.

Monkey 2305 couldn't handle the excitement of eating a banana, so his heart promptly exploded. He died a few moments later.

Monkey2304 wanted to be a duck. He could swim pretty well. He almost choked when he tried to swallow a banana whole. But the real problem came when he tried to fly.
