Rapture City

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...

To err... clarify on that thing, Valentina knows that she is a female. Genderbent does NOT mean that she's confused about her gender.

Genderbent from Urban Dictionary: When a character's gender is changed. Usually in fanfictions or fanart.

With this definition, Valentina is a genderbent version of Valentijn, because Valentijn is a man in Valentine Z, and Valentina is his counterpart from another dimension. Valentijn = Man, Valentina = Woman, so they are genderbent versions of each other, to put things in perspective.

Hope this clears things! ^^

"They, sir. If you're not certain, 'they' can be used as singular and gender-neutral."

"THEY seem like a decent and forthright person, actively keeping the interests of their people in mind and at heart. Very forward-thinking." - Achaedus

He is a good person, but the knowledge of him that I receive lacks depth and nuance. Part of that can be put down to what others write about him: I couldn't personally being able to follow him on what he's doing. And that leads to the second reason: Achaedus seems to move around quite a bit.

AN: James V is good news. May he follow his father's footsteps and maintain a peaceful place with a lot of love. I hope that his place will be a land of mercy where his people should find comfort and safety.

Arkess, the First Monarch of Diarcesia? How interesting yet how tragic that his friends, who helped make a play attempted to murder him for what reason, which has yet to know given how old this document is. Although, I can relate, minus the friends part, as it is custom for Aquarians to consider "friends" to be useful assets to be used till their services are no longer required, and everyone can guess the else that happens. Everyone in Rapture wants to be apart of the Aquarian elite by the Scientist's will. They'll use every method in the book and outside of it, like myself to get to the top. So, maybe that was the case with Arkess? Hmm. Nevertheless, Arkess is a remarkable man, a voice and force of reason to unite the city-states to stand together with one vision to make a society that stands out from the rest, and is forever revered in its history to its present. Overall, my assessment is highly positive. I may visit the Onium Colonial Library to check out a book to learn more about Arkess's legacy.

- In the underwater city, two roles have emerged from the City's ongoing civil war: the City Monitors who defend the peace and the Red Caps who fight against unjust systems. The city's infrastructure is crumbling under its own weight and kinship is snuffed by the paranoia of totalitarianism. Yet the people would be in for a surprise as their virtual overlord have died many years ago as the oppression continues under his name...
- Not an 1-1 exact replica of Bioshock lore and Rapture City. Only the city's atmosphere and setting is maintained.
