I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

This ones like symphonic black metal with some progressive elements.

Ajattara-Ikiycssd

I just remembered something random I used to know related to this band. On a online video game that I played, I knew someone who I think knew one of the members of the band personally. Or at least knew the band very well. I don't really recall entirely. I do know they knew the lyrics and everything.

Not symphonic black metal at all.

Eh, it sounds like it has elements of what I've heard as symphonic in other things to me.

But RYM calls it "Melodic black metal"
