A very small mercy of the Polar Nation system of slavery is that "pleasure slaves" are nonexistent. The average slaver hates tropicals so much that the thought of it would disgust the slaver. This might be to avoid the cliché.

Ahem

Inter-racial demographics are always...a touchy subject ICly, especially considering the coercive nature of...certain population trends. But they make for great stories of ethnic and cultural clashes within a single nation.

Yeah... it's pretty much roleplaying rape in a way that just barely fits into the rules. I'm glad the previous thread got shut down, the pedophilia was too much. As Nantoraka said best:

The Nantorakan government would like to express their concerns about all the pedophiles lurking in this market. There's so much grease and body oil in the offers being made, that you could fry chicken in it. We strongly advise wearing a mask when making deals because the strong smell of kid-diddler permeates the air like a dead, fermenting animal.

One concept I'd love to see (although I suspect it's already been done but obviously it's impossible to check every single factbook ever) is a nation that's one of those horrible totalitarian nations but they present all their factbooks as in-character propaganda that denies all the bad shit they do.

Cause I tend to notice that even 'evil' nations will write their factbooks very matter-of-factly, for lack of a better term. But I'd love one that tries to pretend that it's actually a super-good and caring nation that all its citizens love with the information it presents to outsiders. Maybe as a bonus make it economically-weak like North Korea but its propaganda acting likes its a super prosperous nation.

(And then they'd have a factbook written from the POV of an observer from outside the state talking about how shit really is in their little hellscape) tbh i think psychotic dictatorships already has a handle on that. but propaganda is fun to make, i must say.

I am going to try and partially do a propaganda based nation with the Troas Sector, but currently I am busy plagiarizing your factbook formats and changing them slightly thinking of lore for its history (which is mostly ripped from Starsector with helpful sprinkling of ideas from Battletech and to a much lesser extent The Expanse). My end idea is a remnant of the former Terran Union that only controls a small expansion sector around 5,000 light years away from the core systems after they collapsed into war and the wormhole gate systems shut down, preventing long distance FTL travel. Also includes a convoluted method of saying that Troas never saw a collapse of Union authority but was still cut off from the wider Union, or what's left of it anyway.

Anyway yeah expect a big fucking joke of a creative writing endeavour that recycles Starsector ship sprites for its small and obsolete fleet (for the time period it is set in, and when 20 terajoule strength Gauss cannons are seen as obsolete then you'd better run when the actual high tech shit shows up).

I can't write for shit though so it will probably end up being another NS meme.

A lot of threads on Global Economics and Trade are about either slavery, or military hardware. It makes me want to do something fun and unique there. I've been toying with the idea of some sort of ice-cream truck that travels around the multiverse to sell icecream available in ALL flavors.

I thought of doing that with my puppet nation Garden at 6th Mile Road, but the idea have not taken off yet because of the sheer number of flavours (and the visuals) I'll need to do. In my case, just that Holly isn't a truck, and that her ice-creams are magical and doesn't melt.

Also thinking of selling cameras as Valentine Z because hey, you can turn your OOC passion and hobby into selling fictional cameras.

But first, the Valentian Constructions Ltd. got things to attend to.
