Patriotism is like loving your mother. Nationalism is like praising your mother. Facism is like insulting other people's mothers.

That's the easiest description of "isms" I've ever heard.

Kangaroo versus a horse?

I'm inclined to give the horse the win for speed, though it would be a close match.

Is it gonna be primetime? Also, will it be pay-per-view or free? (I know it was a race but I read it as a boxing match)

An average human body has about 38 trillion cells. In each of these cells there is a spiral helix of DNA that, if stretched to its maximum, is about two meters long. DNA is one of the densest stores of information on the planet: a single gram of DNA stores about 700 terabytes of information. If we stretched out the 76 trillion meters of DNA in my body and recorded, character by character, the word "Hate" over and over and over again, this pile of information could not store the tiniest fraction of a trillionth of the hatred that I feel for Crazy girl right now. Every drop of blood in my body cries out for Crazy girl's death. My very soul writhes in disgust. Crazy girl's mere existence is a blasphemy and an affront to every possible virtue and quality that any rational being can possess. Crazy girl is a deception to Satan himself.

The AN has experienced a satisfactory amount of cuddles.

If one is on a satire-political nation simulator, there is a 0.000007046% chance they had ever cuddled anyone in their life.

There is an even slimmer chance they ever will.
