All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.

Well, maybe not super happy, but happy in a way that they come off as cute...

Eh...yeah, that's true. I used to talk to a girl like that. Though I wouldn't quite describe her as super happy, but very...lively maybe. She was dope. ☐
Unfortunately we only talked through a chat app, and she hasn't signed in for like, two years (I know she was having phone problems; probably lost her password or forgot my username when she switched phones, or something of the sort)...that's the one thing that sucks about online friends; you can completely lose communication with them if you only communicate through one avenue. ☐

Damn, I have 200 more posts in this incarnation of the thread than the last highest I had, at 3,200 posts in this round of the thread. Previous highest was like barely off from being 3,000.
