Welcome to the Dunwich Las Vegas Branch Offices, a "nation" inside a single building in New Vegas. (Might be more apt to call it a "death trap" than a building, though.)

We're best known for our feuding gangs, widespread practice of cannibalism, chronic mental illness, radiation poisoning, rampant chem abuse, and people killing each other just for food and water. But did you know that we also have non-Euclidian geometries, social experiments, a rich history of conspiracy and sordid affairs, eldritch horror, and chems made from modified FEV?

Come to the Dunwich Las Vegas Branch Offices! You'll be violently assaulted by starving cannibals in 30 minutes or less! Guaranteed!

High Princess Reissechi Yuri

Out of all the most execrable, the most offensive and the vilest imperialists, bourgeois, capitalists and imperialists we can meet here in this planet, here we meet a very execrable and ugly old fascist man named General Townes, otherwise known as James "Pinpoint" Townes! James Pinpoint Townes, the vanguard of American fascism and imperialism!

General Townes is an expert in laser technology and a pioneer in the innovative development of laser technology. Catgirl military observers indeed went into the US Laser General and the battlefield testing and were terribly amazed by the effectiveness by the EMP Patriot Lasers! The catgirls were astonished at how the EMP Patriot Lasers can immediately and effectively defeat all opposition, and burn all infantry, tanks and aircraft at sight in an opera-like synchrony, the technology was shown by the catgirl engineers to be amazing! This is where all the positive things about this "Townes" fellow ends! It is very sad that this technology, is only to be used for fascism and imperialism and not for the benefit of the international proletariat!

How has capitalism decayed in the American imperial core! General Townes was installed by the Americans to be the fascist dictator and ruler of America, removing all the mask of the bourgeois democracy and exposing its true nature - a fascist imperialist dictatorship!

At least the fascists and imperialists in CIA here, competent in administration nonetheless, are so incompetent in choosing a fit individual leader! Don't you have any idea how foolish this General James "Pinpoint" Townes as a sham is? Look at his face, what a very old boomer! Townes, you are more fit in a nursing home than as a head of state, with silver temples and hair that shines as bright as the roof of the Grand Temple of Daschirre River! Look at this man - no beauty, no charisma, no good personality, no nicety, no kindness, no nothing! Only lasers!

And to add to insult, do you have any idea how foolish and bad-looking this manchild of an old man is when he plays laser pointers alone? Hahaha, he plays laser pointers as a child! How foolish! How sad! And then he juggles it like a cringe disco show, and look at the boomer of an old man, he is..... High Princess Reissechi Yuri stops at laughing

Oh my gosh, the poor T-Doll comrades! Why is this execrable old boomer appointed as the leader of the T-Dolls! The T-Dolls, the beautiful and sexy women who are the light of pride and justice, it is a sacrilege to their cause to be besmirched by this fascist old man! I have looked at this T-Dolls, they are beautiful, good, kind, they are beautiful women and Comrades! I call on for proletarian T-Dolls to organize and form revolutionary T-Doll militias and revolutionary T-Doll Soviets to oust this fascist Townes from power! Comrade Micro-uzi and Comrade FAL, take the lead and oust this fascist Townes from power!

I trust that the Communist T-dolls will unite and oust fascist Townes from power!

Down with Bourgeoisie, Fascist, and American Imperialist General James

"Pinpoint" Townes!

Stand with the Revolutionary Proletarian T-Dolls and T-Doll Militias and T-Doll Soviets!

Stand with Comrade Micro-uzi, Comrade FAL, Comrade Five-Seven, and other T-Doll Comrades!

T-Dolls of the World, Unite!

"Alright who, again, am I to state my opinion on? High Princess Reissechi Yuri of Feyrissshire?! Doesn't Feyrissshire hold elections and isn't it communist? First of all, how could a system that even CLAIMS to be fully democratic have a monarch? This I do not understand- oh, wait, she is an elected monarch? I shall accept this answer, but I am baffled how a monarch can be fully elected. Doesn't that make one just a president, chancellor, or other elected leader? Well, I know that she is a communist hardliner- so there's very little that we would agree on. It is said that Reissechi Yuri supports many institutions that help uphold a dictatorship and oppression. Also, she claims to support equal rights groups, but I guess she oppresses everyone the same (save for those who are communist and in the government, who she oppresses the least), making them equal, from her point of view. A weak argument, if you ask me, full of hypocrisy. Reissechi Yuri is nothing but a totalitarian communist autocrat! Her people must overthrow her in favor of a more humane system! I- what? Oh, yes, I see the irony there. Yes, I know that promoting a revolution is an odd thing for me to do, especially considering my own role as monarch, but the system needs to be toppled, and from what I can tell, outside sources have had little effect. Better to be in the care of a benevolent autocrat than an oppressive one if you ask me. Not that either are preferable. No, I don't see myself as an autocrat, as I have gradually begun to put more power on Parliament. But back to Reissechi Yuri. My overall opinion on her is negative. Again, I restate myself when While Mr. Abrahamson's organization is rather destabilizing to order, which we must assume he wants, his ideals are those that we can find worth in. While we do see war as something that should be avoided, his "might makes right" thinking aligns quite well with Imperial ideology when viewed through the lens of assimilation. Afterall, are not organics inherently weak when compared to the objectively superior synthetic? He seems to realize this already seeing his organization is almost entirely made up of cyborgs. We would say our opinion on Sundowner is positive, should the Imperium ever come in contact with his world we will be sure to offer him a place among the ranks of the Mechanators."

"A robot, eh? You really do learn of the strangest people here. Regardless, the Paramount is certainly an unusual figure. A conglomeration of autocrats, their minds brought back from the dead and stuffed into a robotic frame. Doesn't sound like a recipe for success to me, even if the safeguards hadn't been removed. I'd suggest that this is a potential source of the Paramount's evident insanity and tendency towards extreme brutality. Certainly, it does not hesitate to brutally massacre any of its opponents, and its objective of forcibly assimilating everything doesn't strike me as particularly rational or coherent. Not that it makes him particularly aberrant, an examination of human history reveals numerous figures of a similarly low caliber."

Atlas clutches the globe in his grip, and yet just beyond his reach lies a land untainted by the folly of bourgeois class-domination; where the lunar peoples rejoice in their myriad proletarian liberties. And the steward of this flock emancipated, Zhou Xuefeng, stands as a titan of labour in the midst of this beautiful development. When he was cast into the furnace of class-struggle himself, it was he who spearheaded the movement to make his comrades in the ship-yards recognise what they had already suspected -- that they were being wrung dry by their callous industrial bosses, who pocketed the proceeds of the workers' labour for themselves. And thus the ship-yards convulsed, the moon glowed with the red light of revolution, and the Selenic Union was born!

I have nothing but respect for this great revolutionary. Doctrinal differences aside, in their struggle against the Earthbound, so doubled down on their petty politicking and failed systems, the Selenic people must stand strong on their satellite home; when the time comes, their vision will be made manifest. And, eventually, I dream that all may sing the praises of Comrade Zhou, and how his steady leadership freed the proletariat of the whole solar-system!

In the midst of a room-temperature cultural revolution that's lost its momentum, the Party carefully plans its next move. Doing Sundowner, as the 'leader'.

"Long ago there was a Cala known for his bloodthirst. He was an exceptional warrior, and enjoyed the thrill of battle a great deal more than the Caleshan of the day believed healthy. The Cala believed the other Calas weak because of what he thought to be cowardice. The other Calas used many means available to them, economic, diplomatic, or otherwise, in order to accomplish their goals. This Cala only used such things to create additional conflict, that he could further plague battlefields with his presence. One day, in one such 'provocative' measure, he trapped and burned alive diplomatic representatives holding an important economic negotiation. However, in doing so, this man killed another Cala. Word swiftly got out of the treachery, as no Caleshan entourage ever goes unaccompanied. This act was the first time that a declaration of Total War was declared on a member of the compact. That Cala did not live to the end of that week, and he learned that the Caleshan might not relish war, but that does not make them poor warriors. As a matter of fact, it was his own tribe that did it, hunting him down as he tried to flee like the coward he accused others of being.

"I tell this story because I see it in you. Martial prowess is laudable, even encouraged among my ilk. Brutality is acceptable if necessary to force a surrender. You however enjoy brutality for the sake of brutality. For you, killing is the means AND the end, and that is neither brave nor honorable. I consider myself a soldier, but you are a killer. You are a slayer of humans and that is all you will be known for. It is also how your story will end: Your dead body in the mud. You could do more, if you had the vision for it, but I do not think you have that vision." -Cala Vermuth Iron Tiger

What a horrifying creature; an actual demonic abomination. I thought God had arranged such that humans are not supposed to directly interact with the alien and the abhorrent, but here we are.

Of course, I always tried to understand things in a contextual manner, no matter how malevolent or stupid. The lowblood are a land of experimentally derived horrors, witchcraft, paganism, and ugly creatures, where degeneration looms like a fog and the Lord is far away. In such a corrupted environment, it is only natural for such a hideous beast to reign supreme from time to time, from their endless and pointless barbaric conflict and forbidden crafts that to them are as natural as the air that they breathe.

It is thus terrifying that we still have things in common. The desire to explore the terra incognita, to rudely intrude into the lands where insane beasts and majestic surprises lay waiting for its discoverer, and to reclaim it as a piece by which to expand and grow our civilized society, is something innate in the greatest of people. Such fearlessness against such tall odds, known and unknown, demands nothing but praises. Especially from the perspective of its "citizens", if that concept even remotely makes sense.

During the time of my ancestors, there was once a story of the king Prester John, the most civilized amid the lands of the barbarians. The lowblood are beyond salvation, but at least for a time, may Luden revels in the notion that he might be most worthy to have been the Prester John of his deformed world.

"I imagine it will not surprise anyone to learn that I do not hold Mr. Kindley in particularly high regard. His ilk are hardly unknown to us, indeed, they have long proven an irritation to our southern border, and we have gained a particular distaste for the singularly odious brand of bourgeois ideology that saturates such creatures. Now, I understand that some may question such a description of Mr. Kindley, noting his 'progressivism', shift away from the politics of the previously dominant National Party and apparent magnanimity towards the South African population. Do not be fooled comrades, the social-fascist remains as reactionary as all the other vermin that have previously held dominion over the settler-state."

"How, you ask? Consider the nature of the coloniser, and of the colonial project. Its purpose is that of domination, the subjugation of people and territory to serve another. Settler-colonialism goes somewhat further, entailing the direct domination of the native peoples by the imperialists, who have decided that they are here to stay. Apartheid is a premier example of settler-colonial policy, ensuring geographic domination of resources by the coloniser while subjecting the colonised peoples to deprivation and dependency upon the colonial-capitalist, such as Mr. Kindley himself. Social-fascism, what some term social-democracy, arises when the bourgeois state is threatened by rising proletarian class-consciousness, seeking to appease the working-class with concessions so as to preserve the broader system of capitalism."

"Now, Mr. Kindley himself is clearly a capitalist, considers himself a social-democrat, and is a firm supporter of apartheid, even if he denounces the more overt racialism of his political opponents. His intentions could not be clearer. The settler-state is threatened by the growing militancy of the colonised proletarians, who take up arms to liberate themselves and their comrades from capitalist imperialism. Mr. Kindley here is personally threatened by this, after all he is a successful colonial-capitalist himself, and thus seeks to avert revolution while ultimately maintaining settler rule. Do you now see the reactionary nature of his politics? He may try and put a human face on colonialism, hiding behind absurd religious justifications and pointing at all the 'good' he has done for the colonised peoples, but in truth he is no different from the National Party in his intentions, even if his methodology differs."

"Just so our stance is perfectly clear, should Mr. Kindley seek to bring the liberated workers of Africa into his colonial dominion, he can expect to be introduced to his god by a proletarian bayonet posthaste."

We recognise the righteousness of speaking negatively against the glorification of apartheid and its abominable past, though it might seem a bit of mistake to generalize ideology of social democracy with acting in the support of apartheid regime. Not all social democrats are the same even though many of them support capitalist tendencies without shame. As a result of this, we can say that we know how social democrats might even send no condemnation to or not try to disassociate themselves from the apartheid regime for the sole purpose of seeking money or trade with this indisputedly inhumane regime.

Teshida Namikandak: No leader but based on the few pieces of information given, you have a long way to go if you think canning gay people will do you any good. Maybe you might change your mind after a few cycles of reincarnation.

Congo:

Atkhal Daishin: Ambitious and noble in developing your own country while keeping that pristine rainforest of yours well... pristine, oh and the development of domestic technology such as your aerospace industry, that's good, you can't rely on both your now deceased socialist brothers or the western imperialists. But keep your socialism to your self. Trying to spread your variant of socialism to other countries which are either not ready or not willing to is only going to cause disaster after disaster. There's a reason why your allies in the Warsaw Pact all fell apart and simply blaming the CIA on it is not a valid argument. Barely anyone there, apart from Russia thinks the Soviet times were good times. The funds used for foreign intervention could be better used for domestic development, otherwise I can't really consider you to be any better than the Americans, unless the people you're supporting are really into socialism in which case that's actually a good thing... but you know not everyone has read Das Kapital.

BN do any character

This Teshida Namikandak seems alright, I suppose. A nomadic herder, at least, formally, but he was quite intelligent? Good, there aren't enough intelligent people in the world. He is also a teacher: a job I greatly respect. This man seems more impressive the further you look. As is custom, I would love to host him over for dinner one night, I'm sure the conversation would be interesting for all parties involved!

"Look what we've got here, boys! Another piece'a shit bureaucrat. What a fuckin' joke. Nobody gives a damn about your 'democracy', nobody gives a damn about your party! Either help start the war economy or step aside, jackass. Don't like that? You'll die with those commies and their fucking cronies.

I'm no fan of politicians, but at least Armstrong's honest."

"You're nothing but a bunch of lowly mercs working for a man corrupted with his own ambitions.

As for you Sundowner, Lowblood respects brutish warriors such as yourself and some of our leaders who aren't the strongest rely on goons like you. Not all are bad, some just need the money, some just need the purpose, some do it for power.

And I feel you are a mix of all that.

But you are not someone I would consider a warrior, more like a wardriven psychopath. Perhaps others in your sect are something I would consider an excellent warrior, but this mindset renders all of you unfit for my respect. Be it with I'll intent, but you are nothing but a rook. Serving those around you, mindless and lacking ambition only wanting to get stronger and more wealthy by any means.

It's disappointing, relying on such corruption to get by, rather than helping the world you just pour the gasoline on and try to strike the match that makes the biggest flame. "-Luden

"We'll! that is very interesting Mr... What? King of Corpses? Cool, that is a very... Interesting name- hey could you give me a moment I just need to make a call real quick. picks up phone whispers Daisy, who is this man! he's scaring me with his big word talk thing, and when I offered him my perfectly roast chicken he just stuffed a whole chicken leg in his face and it came out the other side nothing but BONE, and he calls himself "The king of corpses" which makes me think he's a dark souls boss or something! look, just, I don't know, get Kevin in here or something to make a distraction so I can get out of here!"

In a social media post, he comments on the leader of the nation of Neptunvia:

"I find him an interesting, mysterious person, although I must admit that I would like to get to know him more thoroughly. It is incredible that at his young age he understood perfectly the stock market, he reminds me of my youth, I invite him to invest in the stock market of our nation."
