"Hmm... He is rather unusual for such a man- Born to relative wealth, he went to grasp rags with no guarantee of how it would end... But I can sense a vague kinship with him- Even if he is of a human track. He fights to free a group of people, whom he shares a connection with. It is such men as these that are Zitiinae in all but form- Perhaps something might be changed there, in the future... But this is a Human I do believe I can agree with, for once."

However, there seem to be hints of coldness to their methods but as long as the right thing gets done in the end then I guess that the end justifies the means. Though there is definitely room for improvement. There also seems to be a small hint of gynosupremacy, which is something I definitely do not condone. Overall, positive." ~ Marshal Kovac

Opinion on the Kovac

Status: Not Classified, for public's eye, if necessary

Phew, an another normie nationalist, which got elected in the office by their people, and not by their Party or the Council. Either way, let's dig a bit deeper.

Further in political views... Yeah, no surprise for her being a staunch traditionalist and nationalist. Hey, at least better than "conservatives" who don't conserve anything, and are just liberals from 20 years ago. Her being a militarist makes sense too - world is cruel, and no place for pacifists, humanity learned that lesson centuries, perhaps even millennias ago. And, and environmentalist as well... While I wouldn't want to be poisoned by toxic smoke as well, I have nothing against drillin' in Alaska or offshore too, as long as there are resources.

As for her hanging out with the proles... The Vozhd must make a clear distinction between those, who are commanded, and those, who are in charge, and give the impression of being above them. Hanging out and participating in unsophisticated parties with the middle or lower class scum breaks the delicate line between The Leader and Proles. And huh, I guess, that you have hobbies and family too, and aren't one of those, which noses are almost always in paperwork. Perhaps stop being loose, at least in face of camera?

Honestly, while her forming her own realm in order to protect her beloved Czechs from the two European giants is quite an adorable underdog story, at the same time you should realize, that you will not be able to protect them forever - even if you don't bend the west or east's knee during your timeline, who's to say that your successor will not? Sure, you have to work with the limited resources you have got, but I would have tried something else - pretend to "embrace" the western union, and then subvert it from inside, eventually giving benefits to my region, and centering power around it - this is what Mosley's ultimate plan would will. Now, while I have no ill will towards Czechs (Or most of the good humanity, for that matter), in the end, I still see them as laborers and one of the backbones of the Commonwealth, ruled by Chosen Peoples like Afrikaners, Mexicans, Canadians, and a few others.
