Considering how MT international roleplay will invariably, in a way, be marked by political commentary, IC or OOC, which is principally limited to the understanding of the player in question, the outcome seems bleak.

I feel like NS is actually pretty left-wing dominated compared to the rest of the internet. At the same time it's balanced out by some extremist right wing nuts that are literal unapologetic fascists.

yeah but you don't need to be right-wing to fail to understand far left politics. you'll find a lot of communists and anarchists on the internet who don't know shit about communism and anarchism.

South Reinkalistan is a massive, ecologically-diverse nation notable for its roving student militias and widespread hatred for the elderly. In the midst of a room-temperature cultural revolution that's lost its momentum, the Party carefully plans its next move. As the brittle bones of fragile empires begin to crack beneath their own weight, history's symphony reaches crescendo pitch. The future is all but certain.

Can relate with my posts. It is quite tedious to translate English into your native, even if you're fluent.

(Burmese doesn't have a lot of technical terms, so... yeah. It's a fun exercise,

I just use the US International layout because I regularly switch between typing in English, Spanish, and French.

Luckily the german QWERTZ is rather compatible with writing, even if it sometimes causes problems when gaming.
Probs should look into alternative keyboard schemes like Dvorak, Workman, etc. though

Probably not a cliché, and if so has likely been mentioned, but a thing I see is ahem some people writing like, about just one paragraph for a factbook. Might not be that common, but it's definitely annoying to see 🤔 I'm guilty of this, and my factbooks that do that have a WIP label on them before the thread copy strikes me

When good beats evil, the sky's the limit.

Instead of writing some edgy nation description, let me just say this nation's concept was made in about 30 minutes and it somehow didn't end up horribly. My inactivity may kill the momentum though.

One paragraph (as opposed to a one-liner) for IC responses isn't too much to ask.

You aren't wrong, I could care less about if your reply is one word or a essay, but I kinda like when people put more than one paragraph in their FACTBOOKS, I don't want them to write a essay but yeah, you get my point
