I mean.

The Matrix is a simulation, the bullet dodging is manipulating the simulation. Transposed into a non-simulated setting, it becomes super speed at best and reality warping at worst-the latter of which would generally get you kicked out of rps that don't involve copious amounts of FFT eldritch civilizations.

I've used dodging in plenty of RPs without getting kicked out. Also, the Matrix being a simulation does not make it impossible.

I'm going to put it simply.

Literally every "idea" you've had regarding worldbuilding and military tactics, especially this one, has been pure idiocy. Don't beat around the bush with that bullshit, because you know that's not what we mean.
