Monkey 6500 sacrificed his life to save the world from complete destruction

People tend to assume that Entrance of the Gladiators by Julius Fučík is what that ever so famous circus clown theme is. And in a way, it is. Nobody would ever argue with you on this fact.

However, if you want to be an unlikable, pedantic jerk, the song actually known to be circus music would be a version composed for American woodwind bands (and later transcribed for fairground organs) titled Thunder and Blazes, published by Louis-Philippe Laurendeau.

Of course, this information is of absolutely no consequence to anyone.

Monkey 6499 attempted to box a gorilla.

"The Barons of England demanded the Security of Law for Themselves, the Patriots of America proclaimed the Security and Protection for All. All men are equal before the Law. No matter upon what spot of the Earth's surface they were born; no matter whether an Asiatic or African, a European or an American Sun first burned upon them; no matter whether citizens or strangers, no matter whether rich or poor, no matter whether wise or simple, no matter whether strong or weak, this new Magna Carta to Mankind declares the rights of All to Life and Liberty and Property are Equal Before the Law."

6496 was the manufacturer who failed to put a "choking hazard" label on his urinal cakes. He was overcome by remorse and has not been heard from since.

Monkey 6494 was saved by East Kekistanis near East Gangguo City, formerly Kisangani. He spent the rest of his life in Shin Aomori Colonial Park, formerly Virunga National Park.

6490 was teleported by Neko-koku into a universe where monkeys, not humans, dominated non-monkey, non-cats on Planet Earth under feline guidance. She is living happily now.

Monkey 6489 was paranoid about the unusual deaths of all the other monkeys. He thought somebody was following him to kill him, turned his head too quickly to see who it was, and snapped his neck.

Monkey 6480 was stepped on by a guy with a really big boot. With spikes on the bottom. Then the spike-boot guy was crushed by an even bigger boot.
