The Royal Bodyguards knock you to the ground and drag you away. You then spend a couple of nights in a rather unpleasant cell. Then you are released, but warned that you will be watched.

A prison guard using excessive force just to keep the prisoners quiet?

Abandoning or otherwise failing to provide adequate care for your child is considered a form of child abuse in Wyland and thus results in the child being taken from the parent(s) custody and placed in state care until a suitable fosterer can be found. Depending on the severity, abusive parents can face several years in prison and be prevented from making contact with their children.

There aren't any laws regarding halal products in Drongonia. There are only independent halal certifiers that companies can pay to come and inspect and then have their sticker on the packaging.
