I know right? My favourite of all time. I listened to the first two Silersun Pickups albums, but I have to say, I wasn't overkeen on the second one at all, asides from Sort Of and There's No Secrets This Year. Is it worth downloading the third?

Personally, despite the common opinion of people not liking the latest album because of the change in style (Because, you know, people aren't allowed to evolve apparently), because they wanted more of something like the other albums, I consider their 3rd to be their best, so yeah.

I have nothing against people not liking an album, but when they stay they wanted one that sounded like Carnavas or Swoon, making it sound like they wanted more of the same, all I can do is sigh and shake my head. I find bands boring if they sound exactly the same as their previous album, and don't sound like they really evolved at all, so yeah. Sure, you can keep your same general style, that's fine. That's kind of a point of being a bad, is to have your own style that stands out. But it's best to actually EVOLVE, in my opinion. Like Bjork does on every album for example.

Silersun Pickups-Panic Switch

Edit: I should add that their most recent album is one of those ones that takes a bit to truly like it, but to me that a lot of the time can be the best bands ever. All my favorite bands, with the exception of Sigur Ros (Porcupine Tree, Agent Fresco, ect), have all been bands where it took a few listens before I found them to be extremely great.

occult rock II, aluk todolo

those drums man

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.

Ulrich Schnauss - As If You've Never Been Away

My nation DOES NOT reflect my political views. The interplanetary-level Federation government is libertarian only for realism purposes, and functions more like a confederation. Since it has such a large territory to manage, the federal bureaucracy can only provide the bare essentials efficiently, while most other decisions are devolved down to the planetary governments.

If you're reading this, you are an winrar.

“ CVT Temp wrote:
I mean, we can actually create a mathematical definition for evolution in terms of the evolutionary algorithm and then write code to deal with abstract instances of evolution, which basically equates to mathematical proof that evolution works. All that remains is to show that biological systems replicate in such a way as to satisfy the minimal criteria required for evolution to apply to them, something which has already been adequately shown time and again. At this point, we've pretty much proven that not only can evolution happen, it pretty much must happen since it's basically impossible to prevent it from happening.
