What have I learnt after reading Wladfa's factbooks? That their name is literally English for "colony" or "settlement".

To the contrary, I had no idea what Neko is, I actually read multiple of your factbooks before I even realised that your nation consisted of them. I didn't mean to disappoint but you can't assume everyone is in the know regarding niche pop culture.

Many people assume that the Paradeavansilian States are defenseless due to the nation's peaceful nature. However, this is not the case. They have many methods of defense, such as having their population teleport to safer areas, or armed phoenixes.

I'm just a simple man trying to make a country on the internet. And yes I do not use NS stats.

The Democratic Socialist Republic of Karevka (DSRK) is supposed to be a stand-in Soviet Union, although with major differences like the allowance of private business (But the state is a partial owner) or the fact that they allow LGBT marriage. Kind of alternate history or alternate universe I guess.

Their leader is xenophobic, much like we Aeldari are.

We are the ancient Aeldari Empire from Warhammer 40k before the fall, and minus the "excessive activities" which caused our fall.
(We do NOT use NS-stats, see our factbooks for our appropriate stats.)

The house of Daveed used to rule over much of Natan until 1746 when they were deposed by aa democratic revolution.

Hmm, a dimension hopping tower that maintains sovereign status... I feel like whoseever's territory it lands in would object to that. Not that its millions of automatons and army-destroying soldiers would give much room for argument. I presume all those automatons can't exist at the same time, though, given that they'd all have to fit within the city.

They're generally stored in a pocket dimension when not in use, or stationed in uninhabited realities alongside some method of rapid transit (i.e. a portal back into the Tower).
