I... think they're just supposed to be straight-up soviet Russia?

People tend to assume that Entrance of the Gladiators by Julius Fučík is what that ever so famous circus clown theme is. And in a way, it is. Nobody would ever argue with you on this fact.

However, if you want to be an unlikable, pedantic jerk, the song actually known to be circus music would be a version composed for American woodwind bands (and later transcribed for fairground organs) titled Thunder and Blazes, published by Louis-Philippe Laurendeau.

Of course, this information is of absolutely no consequence to anyone.

The first is some type of extreme authoritarian right-wing government (like Gilead in A Handmaiden's Tale or the USA in It Could Never Happen Here) taking power, and the second is a far-left Stalinist or Trotskyist style government taking over.

Now that I think about it, a total collapse of the US is worse than your nation, so I'll put you at fourth or fifth.

They are socialists. What's much worse is that they are tropicalized. A people can recover from socialism, however it can not recover from tropicality unless East Kekistan steps in.

Yes, just like what Jenny Hyun said, eradication of one (or several) toxic families is/are what the world needs. As what our famous colonial governor Ming Zhang of Xijing said, humanity is like a body and degenerate tropicals are like cancer cells. Humanity is sick and can only get healthy by removing the cancer and eliminating the cancer cells.

(OOC)

Even if we assume that the East Kekistani premise, namely saving humanity requires genocide, is accurate. Is a humanity that has lost all human values really worth saving?

AN: Your summary is accurate. The official East Kekistani view is that tropicals have archaic forager values which keep them from becoming good citizens in a temperate society. They can not understand peace for violence has always been present in their societies. They can not understand grit for they always have access to free fruits veggies and animals. Teaching them to become good temperates requires changing their genetics which we tried but failed at achieving because tropicals attacked our medics (in fact the now infamous Tropical Services at first provided medical service to East Kekistanis and natives alike including mandatory vaccination). Letting them continue with their tropical ways was not a solution due to planetary defense. Changing them was also infeasible. So the only solution was..death.

A large part of the East Kekistanis who later became extremely genocidal were originally idealists who wanted to help tropicals or ordinary businesspeople. They often got physically assaulted by the tropicals or knew people who did. In fact the most virulent anti-tropical militia was the Families of Tropical Services. They mostly consisted of guys and gals who lost their family members or lovers to tropicals.

PAS, perhaps try to put similar effort in your posts, just as you would with factbooks?

Anyways:

What I found out: Their Greater East Asian War Memorial for the Pacific Wars seems to be very soviet-esque, and one of their malls is literally called "Little Moscow Mall" - while it is fitting for PAS, I still think, that soviet vibes are a tad too overrated. Also, judging from their international relations list, they are surprisingly friendly to some monarchies around there. Last, but not least, their Oriental Maoist ideology seems to use elements from Ho Chi Minh's thought, along with a some sort of "liberal juche", apparently.

I'm not sure how accurate the "old factbook" is, but it seems they have a state religion (Tiantang Taoism) yet they still guarantee freedom of worship. I wonder how effective that is in practice, or if the dominant religion ends up subjugating the others (with 88% Taoism, it probably wouldn't be hard).

What I found out: That their variant of English is fully phonetical, because normal one had obstacles for learning for Hispanics and Native Americans. Also, it has a whole new alphabet, which also seems to use some letters from Icelandic Latin script, and Vietnamese one. (Either way, if rest of your world uses normal English, it is going to be confusing at first.)

The Nevada Border War between Pacifica, Rockies, and Guards of the Military Base (Eastern Colombia) took place between November 2167 and December 2167. In the aftermath, neither side won but the Rockies were forced to pay war reparations to Pacifica, and no territory was gained for either side. However, Central America and Canada would end up tightening their border control in the Greater Baja and northwest as a result.
