It's psychedelic rock and krautrock

You don't think I didn't know that? ☐

Well, I don't know what the hell counts as krautrock, so ☐

I know a little more about psychedelic stuff, because a psychedelic trance band I know has a similar sound to that, just in trance form instead of rock form.

Oterro's big on krautrock. I'm not really into either, but some's okay.

*Telephone ringing outside my door,
More new news to break up my meditation.
Flying machines and time magazines,
And all this 20th century situation.*

*No good, no good, no good,
For the third world man,
From the land of creation.*

intended replacement nation for United State of America
(original the character donut steel)

Who is in control of those in control?

Why does Ben Lee \(who I assume is the linoleum faced 'wipe-clean-look' profile in the bottom right-hand corner\) look like Rene Auberjonois? Why would Odo be hanging around a rubbish looking holo-world full of quidditch goals that vaguely resembles rejected Final Fantasy 13 concept art? And what happened in order for him to want to breath tornados? And how?!... It would take a vaster intellect than mine in order to answer those questions.

Well krautrock more specifically refers to music the experimental scene in Germany during the late 60's. There's some similar concepts that carry over from bands - long jam/improv sessions, electronic presence and for some bands the Motorik beat but they vary pretty wildly. You get stuff like early Can and German Oak which is just pretty jam heavy, slighty noise rock music, to Faust's 2deep4u first album and Der Bluthsarch's which is borderline poppy avant garde music crossed with slightly terrifying ambient and violent noise.

really good genre that i've yet to mine thoroughly

i wouldn't call someone out for labeling something new as krautrock as, while there's a great amount of distinction between artists, there's also a definite krautrock flavour.

I am listening to Purify, by Neurosis.

we, unlike the bourgeoisie, have nothing to lose and therefore our expression will be the only honest one, our words will be the only challenging ones and our art will be the one revolutionary expression. We need new noise and new voices and new canvases to become something more than the last poets of a useless generation.
